

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

TO THE SECOND EDITION.

SINCE this small work first appeared the Companies Acts of 1879 and 1880 have been passed, and a large number of important cases on questions relating to companies have been decided by the Courts.

I have carefully revised and altered the work so as to include the statutes of 1879 and 1880 and the more important decisions of the last three years, and have made considerable additions to the parts of the book which treat of matters of practice of ordinary occurrence. In making these additions, however, I have been very anxious not to needlessly add to the size of the book, and to keep it—what it was originally intended to be—a plain guide to the principles and practice of the law affecting Companies.

I have added an Appendix, which sets out the forms and fees which are most likely to be required in practice.

PREFACE

TO THE FIRST EDITION.

As an articled clerk reading for the "Final" examination of the Incorporated Law Society, I felt the need of some small book to give the main principles of the law relating to joint stock companies; more particularly as this important branch of mercantile law lies outside the scope of the text books ordinarily used by students. The text books on Companies are so large, and the Companies Acts themselves so long, that the Student cannot gain even the most general knowledge of company law without devoting to it more time than, as a rule, he can safely spare from other subjects. With a view to meet this want, I have prepared the following pages, and have endeavoured in them, as briefly and concisely as possible, to give a general view both of the principles and practice of the law affecting Companies.

I also hope that this small work may be of use to the general reader, and for this purpose I have carefully given an authority for every statement I have made, in order that it may not only form an epitome of the Companies Acts, but also a ready index, showing where fuller information may be obtained on any point—either from the Acts themselves or the larger text books.

T. EUSTACE SMITH.

OF THE
LAW OF COMPANIES.

CHAPTER I.

OF THE DIFFERENT KINDS OF JOINT STOCK COMPANIES.

COMPANIES as they originally existed were of two kinds only ; (1) incorporated, or those which had been formed into corporations,<sup>1</sup> and (2) unincorporated.

Incorporated companies had this great advantage over unincorporated, that while a corporation was considered as a distinct individual, able to sue and liable to be sued by its own members, an unincorporated company was considered by the law as an ordinary partnership, and its members, however great its size, were governed by the same rules as partners generally. Another great advantage a corporation had over an unincorporated company was that the property of the corporation and not that of its members was liable for its debts.

<sup>1</sup> Corporations are artificial persons created by the law and endowed by it with the capacity of perpetual succession. They consist of collective bodies of men or of single individuals ; the first are called corporations aggregate, the second, corporations sole. The existence of corporations is constantly maintained by the succession of new individuals in the place of those who die or are removed. Steph. Com., 7th ed. vol. I., p. 358.

Corporations can be created either by Royal Charter, conferred by letters patent, or by Act of Parliament, and these were originally the only methods, by which persons desirous of associating together for purposes of profit could escape the ordinary incidents and liabilities of partnership. As the numbers and importance of companies increased, various Acts of Parliament were passed providing other, and less expensive ways for the formation of joint stock companies, but as these, with a few exceptions presently referred to, have been repealed, and new enactments made by the Companies Act, 1862,<sup>1</sup> as amended by the Companies Acts of 1867, 1877, 1879, and 1880,<sup>2</sup> it is unnecessary to refer to them at length.

A joint stock company has been defined as "an association of individuals for purposes of profit, possessing a common capital contributed by the members composing it, such capital being commonly divided into shares, of which each possesses one or more, and which are transferable by the owner.”<sup>1</sup>

Joint stock companies may be divided into two great classes.

1. Those not formed under the Companies Act, 1862.
2. Those formed under that Act.

The former of these classes may be divided as follows:—

1. Cost Book Mining Companies.
2. Companies incorporated or privileged by the Crown.
3. Companies incorporated by some special Act of Parliament.
4. Banking companies formed under 7 Geo. IV.
c. 46.

1. Cost Book Mining Companies.

These are companies governed by local custom, Cost book mining com- and it appears doubtful whether they can be panies. formed for working mines beyond the jurisdiction of the Stannaries. They are mere partnerships, and the members are governed by the general law relating to partners, except so far as that law is expressly excluded by the custom. The company is formed by the agreement together of a number of adventurers who agree to share the risk and expense of working a lode. The mine is managed by an agent called a "Purser," under the control of the shareholders. The terms of the agreement are entered in a book called the "Cost Book;" in this book are also entered all receipts and payments on behalf of the mine, a list of the members, and all transfers of the shares.<sup>1</sup> The shares are transferable, may be relinquished, and are liable for non-payment of calls.<sup>2</sup> By a recent Act,<sup>3</sup> a past member, who has ceased to be a member for two years or upwards, before the mine ceased to be worked, or before the date of the winding-up order, is not liable to contribute to the assets of the company. Companies within the jurisdiction of the Stannaries are regulated by the Stannaries Act, 1869 (32 & 33 Vict. c. 19).

2. Companies incorporated or privileged by the Crown.

Companies incorporated by the Crown.

Firstly. Companies incorporated by the Crown. The Crown has at common law the power of incorporating, by charter, any persons desiring to be incorporated, and a chartered company is therefore formed, as soon as a charter of incorporation is granted to, and accepted by, two or more individuals.<sup>1</sup> A company, when so formed, is not a partnership, and is governed solely by the terms of its charter. Companies may still be formed in this way, but it seems to have fallen into disuse.

Secondly. Companies privileged by the Crown. <sup>Companies privileged by the Crown.</sup> By the 7 Will. IV. & 1 Vict. c. 73, the Crown is empowered to grant by letters patent to any company any privileges which the Crown might at common law grant to any company, by any charter of incorporation. A company does not become incorporated by such letters patent. It is required to be entered into by an agreement under seal containing certain provisions specified by the Act.<sup>2</sup> The privileges of a company formed in this way depend on the letters patent, and the members are liable for all debts and liabilities, except so far as their liability is limited by the letters patent. Companies may still be privileged by letters patent, but this method, like the last, appears to have fallen into disuse.<sup>3</sup>

3. Companies incorporated by special Act of Parliament.

A company incorporated under any special Act of Parliament exists as an incorporated company, <sup>Companies of Parliament.</sup> and is regulated by its special Act alone, but companies incorporated since the 8th of May, 1845, are governed by the Companies Clauses Consolidation Act,<sup>1</sup> save so far as its clauses and provisions are expressly varied or exempted by the company's special Act. Companies are frequently at the present day incorporated by special Act of Parliament, and are generally of a public nature, common instances being railway companies.

*4. Banking Companies formed under 7 Geo. IV.
c. 46.*

All banking companies regulated by this Act must have been formed before the year 1844.<sup>2</sup> It is still in force as to companies formed before the 6th of May, 1844, and not registered under the Companies Act, 1862.<sup>3</sup> These companies, although partnerships, possess many privileges which ordinary partnerships do not, the principal of which is the right of suing and being sued in the name of some Public Officer.<sup>4</sup> These privileges were acquired and are retained by sending to the Stamp

<sup>4</sup> Companies possessing the power to sue and be sued in the name of a public officer are (1.) Cost book Mining Companies within the jurisdiction of the Stannaries ; (2.) Companies under 7 Geo. IV. c. 46 ; (3.) Companies formed by Letters Patent under the 7 Will. IV. and 1 Vict. c. 73 ; (4.) Private companies specially possessing this power.

Office once a year, between the 28th of February and 25th of March, a return of—(1.) The name of the company ; (2.) The names and addresses of the members ; (3.) The name of every bank established by it ; (4.) The names and addresses of two or more persons members of the co-partnership resident in England, together with their titles of office, who have been appointed Public Officers of the company ; (5.) The name of every town and place where any bills or notes are issued. These returns must be verified by the oath of one of the registered Public Officers.

With regard to the second division of joint stock companies, viz., those formed under the Companies Act, 1862, these are by far the most numerous and important, and to them the bulk of these pages will be devoted.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE FORMATION OF A COMPANY UNDER THE COMPANIES ACT, 1862, AND MATTERS INCIDENTAL THERETO, AND THE APPLICATION OF THAT ACT TO COMPANIES NOT FORMED UNDER IT.

THE Companies Act, 1862, provides for the formation of three different kinds of companies, viz:—

1. Companies limited by shares.
  2. Companies limited by guarantee.
  3. Unlimited companies.

The chief distinction between these three classes of companies is in the liability of the members. Their liability in the first case is limited to the amount unpaid on their shares.<sup>1</sup> In the second case to the amount which each has undertaken by the memorandum of association to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up,<sup>2</sup> and in the third case the liability of the members is unlimited.<sup>3</sup> There are, however, various other distinctions, which will be noticed further on.

The smallest number of persons who can form a company is seven,<sup>1</sup> and no partnership of more than twenty persons can be formed for the purpose of carrying on any business, that has for its object the acquisition of gain, by the partnership, or by its members, unless it is registered as a company under the Companies Act, 1862, or is formed in pursuance of some other Act of Parliament, or is a company engaged in working mines within and subject to the jurisdiction of the Stannaries.<sup>2</sup> An association of more than twenty persons for the acquisition of gain is an illegal association, unless registered under the Companies Act.<sup>3</sup>

Banking partnerships in this respect are on a peculiar footing, as they must be registered if the number of partners exceeds ten.<sup>4</sup>

The persons originally forming a company are called the promoters, and their first step is usually the publication of a prospectus, as to which it may

<sup>1</sup> The Companies Act, 1862, s. 6. Where it carries on business for six months after its members have been reduced below seven, every member cognizant of the fact is personally liable for payment of the whole of the debts of the company contracted during such period, and may be sued for the same without be noticed that a promoter will be liable to make good to an allottee of shares, any damage which he may have sustained by taking shares on the faith of an untrue statement;<sup>1</sup> and if the objects for which the company is formed differ in the memorandum of association from the prospectus, any person who has agreed to take shares will not be liable as a shareholder.<sup>2</sup>

Contracts entered into by the company or promoters.

Every prospectus of a company, and every notice inviting persons to subscribe for shares, must specify the dates and the names of the parties to any contract entered into by the company, or the promoters, directors, or trustees thereof, before the issue of such prospectus or notice, whether subject to adoption by the directors or trustees or otherwise; or such prospectus or notice will be deemed fraudulent on the part of the promoters, directors, and officers of the company, knowingly issuing the same, as regards any person taking shares in the company, on the faith of the prospectus, unless he had notice of such contract.<sup>3</sup>

What contracts must be disclosed.

This section of the Act is an extremely difficult one, and has caused much difference of judicial opinion; on the balance of authority, however, the law must at present be taken to be that the prospectus must disclose not only contracts which impose an obligation on the company, but also all contracts entered into by the promoters, &c., whether before or after they become promoters, &c., which relate to the company's affairs.<sup>1</sup>

When the shareholder comes within the terms of the section he has a remedy against the promoter, &c., personally for damages,<sup>2</sup> but he is not entitled to rescind the contract and to have his name removed from the list of shareholders.<sup>3</sup>

A company is of course not liable for the acts and engagements of its promoters, unless it is expressly stipulated in its charter, Act of Parliament, or deed of settlement, that it should be.

If, however, a company has acquired property, or exercised rights in pursuance of an engagement entered into by its promoters, it will not be permitted to withdraw from such engagement, if it is one which would have bound the company had it been entered into after its formation.<sup>4</sup> It appears now settled both at law and in equity "that a company cannot ratify a contract made on its behalf of association.

The next step is the preparation of the memorandum of association. This is a memorandum containing particulars of the company, which is required to be registered with the registrar of joint stock companies; the requisites which it must contain differ according to the class to which the company belongs.

Its requisites
in a company limited by shares.

Where the company is limited by shares, these requisites are :

1. The name of the proposed company, with the addition of the word "limited" as the last word in such name.
2. Where the registered office is to be situated.
3. The objects of the company.
4. A declaration that the liability of the company is limited.
5. The amount of capital and the shares into which it is divided.

Subject to the following regulations :

1. That no subscriber shall take less than one share.
2. That each subscriber of the memorandum of association shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.<sup>1</sup>

Where the company is limited by guarantee its memorandum of association must contain the first three of the last-mentioned requisites, and

4. A declaration that each member undertakes to contribute to the assets of the company, in the event of the same being wound up during the time that he is a member, or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the company contracted before the time at which he ceases to be a member, and of the costs, charges, and expenses of winding-up the company, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories amongst themselves, such amount as may be required not exceeding a specified amount.<sup>2</sup>

Where the company is unlimited the memorandum of association need only contain the first three requisites of a company limited by shares.<sup>3</sup>

The memorandum of association may, in the case of a company limited by shares, and must, in the case of a company limited by guarantee or unlimited, be accompanied, when registered, by articles of association. The articles of association contain the rules and regulations, and specify the mode of conducting business, the number and qualifications of the directors, and generally the whole internal organization of the company, and answers, in fact, to articles of partnership.<sup>1</sup> They must be in separate paragraphs numbered arithmetically,<sup>2</sup> must be printed, and a sum of 5s. is payable on their registration. The schedule to the Act contains a table (marked "A") of provisions, all or any of which may be adopted in the articles of association.<sup>3</sup> In the case of a company limited by shares, if it has no articles of association, or where it has articles of association, so far as the provisions of the table are not excluded or modified by them, Table "A" is to be deemed to be the regulations of the company.<sup>4</sup> The articles of association can be altered by a special resolution,<sup>1</sup> and a company cannot contract itself out of its power of making such alteration.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup> The articles of association usually contain clauses regulating the general business of the company in reference to the division of the capital, the issue of shares, increase of capital, calls, forfeiture for non-payment, &c., borrowing powers, general meetings, voting, directors and their qualifications, powers, duties, &c., dividends, accounts, audits, notices, arbitration clause, &c.

Both the memorandum and articles of association bear a 10s. stamp, and must be signed by each subscriber, in the presence of and attested by one witness at least, and when registered, bind the company and the members thereof, to the same extent as if each member had subscribed his name and affixed his seal thereto, and there were therein contained a covenant on the part of himself, his heirs, executors, and administrators, to observe all the conditions of the memorandum, and to conform to all the regulations contained in the articles subject to the provisions of the Act.<sup>3</sup> The number of subscribers must not be less than seven. Where one of seven subscribers was an infant at the time of registration, the company was, nevertheless, held to be effectually incorporated.<sup>4</sup>

All monies payable by any members to the company in pursuance of the conditions and regulations of the company are deemed to be a debt due from such member to the company in the nature of a specialty debt.<sup>5</sup>

memorandum
and articles of association.

Each member is entitled to have a copy of the memorandum and articles of association (if any) forwarded to him on payment of the sum of 1s., or any less sum prescribed by the company, for each copy. Any company making default in forwarding a copy of the memorandum of association and articles incurs a penalty of not exceeding one pound.<sup>3</sup> Upon registration the company becomes incorporated with power to hold lands. The certificate of the incorporation of any company given by the registrar is conclusive evidence that all the requisitions of the Act in respect of registration have been complied with.<sup>4</sup> By the Companies Act, 1877,<sup>5</sup> any certificate of the incorporation of any company given by the registrar or assistant registrar is to be received in evidence as if it were the original certificate; and any copy of or extract from any of the documents or part of the documents kept and registered at any of the offices for the registration of joint stock companies, if duly certified to be a true copy under the hand of the registrar or one of the assistant registrars for the time being, and whom it shall not be necessary to prove to be the registrar or assistant registrar, is in all legal proceedings whatsoever to be received in evidence as of equal validity with the original document.

The definition of the objects of the company in the memorandum of association requires particular attention, and they should be described sufficiently broadly to include every business which the company is likely to be engaged in, as there is no power in the Act to alter the memorandum of association so as to extend the scope of the company.

The name of the company may be changed with <sup>Change of company's name.</sup> the sanction of a special resolution, and with the approval of the Board of Trade. No alteration of name affects any rights or obligations of the company or renders defective any legal proceedings instituted by or against the company.<sup>1</sup>

A company may increase its capital by the issue <sup>Increase of or conversion, specifying the shares, must be given to the registrar of joint stock companies.<sup>1</sup>

Reduction of capital.

A company limited by shares may reduce its capital. The reduction must be authorised by its articles of association—and be by a special resolution—but the resolution for the reduction of capital will not come into operation until an order of the Court confirming the reduction has been obtained.<sup>2</sup> The application to the Court to confirm the reduction is by petition,<sup>3</sup> and the creditors of the company may appear and oppose the proposed

<sup>3</sup> The Companies Act, 1867, s. 11. The petition is entitled in the matter of "The Companies Act, 1867," and of the company in question, (Gen. Orders, 1868, rule 2) and must be advertised. A list of the creditors must be filed and copies of the list must be kept at the office of the company, and their solicitors and London agents, which copies may be inspected by any one on payment of 1s. Notice of the proposed reduction of capital must be sent to the creditors by pre-paid letter and advertised. The advertisement must state where the list of creditors can be inspected, and the time within which the creditors must send in their claims. An affidavit must be filed that these requisites have been complied with. Creditors may be required to prove their debts in the same way as in a winding up. The chief clerk then certifies who are the creditors, and how far they have consented to the reduction. The petition cannot be placed on the list of petitions until eight days after the filing of the chief clerk's certificate. Notice of the hearing must be advertised. As to proceedings on a petition to reduce capital, see Gen. Orders, 1868, rules 3-20.

reduction.<sup>1</sup> The company must add to its name the words "and reduced" as the last words in its name from the date of the passing of the resolution to such time as the Court may fix.<sup>2</sup>

The word "capital" includes paid-up capital; <sup>Cancelling lost capital.</sup> and the power to reduce capital includes a power to cancel any lost capital, or any capital unrepresented by available assets or to pay off any capital which may be in excess of the wants of the company. Paid-up capital may be reduced either with or without extinguishing or reducing the liability (if any) remaining on the shares of the company.<sup>3</sup>

Where, however, the reduction of capital does <sup>When creditors cannot object to reduction.</sup> not involve either the diminution of any liability in respect of unpaid capital or the payment to any shareholder of paid-up capital—

(a.) The creditors are not (unless the Court otherwise directs) entitled to object to the reduction.

(b.) The Court may dispense altogether with the addition of the words "and reduced" to the name of the company.<sup>4</sup> <sup>When the words "and reduced" may be dispensed with.</sup>

Shares which have not been taken or agreed to be taken may be cancelled without the sanction of the Court.<sup>5</sup> <sup>Power to reduce capital by cancellation of unissued shares.</sup>

The Court may, if it thinks fit, require the company to publish the reasons of, or any information in regard to the reduction of its capital, or the causes which led to such reduction.<sup>1</sup>

Shares may be divided into shares of smaller amount.

The capital of the company or any part of it may be divided into shares of smaller amount. Such division must be made by special resolution. On any such division the proportion between the amount which is paid, and the amount which is unpaid, on each share, is the same as before the reduction.<sup>2</sup>

Provision that reserve capital of company not to be called up except in case of winding up.

It may be provided by special resolution that any portion of the capital which has not been already called up, shall not be capable of being called up, except in the event of and for the purposes of the company being wound up.<sup>3</sup>

An unlimited company registering as a limited one may, by the resolution assenting to the registration as a limited company, increase the nominal amount of the company's capital by increasing the nominal amount of the shares.

When this is done no part of such increased capital is capable of being called up, except for the purposes of the company's winding up.

When no such increase is resolved upon, the company may, by the same resolution, provide that a portion of its uncalled capital shall not be capable of being called up except for the purposes of the winding up.<sup>4</sup>

When a company has accumulated profits which may, with the consent of the shareholders, be divided amongst them as dividends or bonus, such profits may, by special resolution, be returned to the shareholders in reduction of the paid-up capital of the company, the unpaid capital being thereby increased by a similar amount. The directors have the same power of calling up the money so returned as they have in respect of the rest of the unpaid capital.<sup>1</sup>

A memorandum showing that all requisites for the reduction of capital have been complied with,<sup>2</sup> must be registered with the registrar of joint stock companies, and the resolution will have no effect until this is done.<sup>3</sup>

A shareholder, instead of taking the money paid in respect of his shares, may require the company to retain it. The company must in such case invest the money. The amount so retained and invested represents the future calls which may be made to replace the capital reduced on the shares, whether the amount obtained on the sale of the whole or such proportion of the investment as represents the amount of any call when made, produces more or less than the amount of such call.<sup>4</sup>

that any alteration in the memorandum of association must be authorised by the regulations contained in the articles of association ; these may, however, subject to the provisions of the Act and to the conditions contained in the memorandum of association, be altered in general meeting from time to time by special resolution.<sup>1</sup>

Companies formed for the purpose of promoting art, science, literature, religion, charity, or any other object not involving the acquisition of gain by the company or by the individual members thereof, were not considered at common law as partnerships, and such a company may, by the licence of the Board of Trade, be registered with limited liability without the addition of the word "limited" to its name,<sup>2</sup> but cannot, without the sanction of the Board of Trade, hold more than two acres of land ; the Board of Trade, may however, by licence under the hand of one of their principal or assistant secretaries, empower any such company to hold lands in such quantity and subject to such conditions as they think fit.<sup>3</sup>

Every company must have a registered office,<sup>4</sup> and must give notice to the registrar of joint stock companies of any change thereof ;<sup>5</sup> by

an unlimited company into a limited one.*

Any company registered as an unlimited company may register as a limited company.

The registration of an unlimited company as a limited company does not prejudice any debts, liabilities, obligations, or contracts incurred or entered into by the company prior to registration.<sup>2</sup>

*Notwithstanding any pro-

contrary in its

An unlimited company may register as a limited one, notwithstanding any provisions contained in any Act of Parliament, royal charter, deed of settlement, contract of copartnery, cost book regulations, letters patent, or other instrument constituting or regulating the company.<sup>3</sup>

*Powers of mortgaging

No express power is required to authorise a company to mortgage its property and it may do so as freely as an individual unless prevented by its articles of association from doing so.<sup>4</sup> But it has no power to mortgage or charge future calls unless specially authorised by its articles to do so.<sup>5</sup>

Any banking company claiming to issue notes in the United Kingdom is not entitled to limited liability in respect of such issue,<sup>2</sup> and the members are liable for the whole amount of the issue in addition to the sum for which they are liable on their shares or guarantee.

In the event of a banking company being wound up, in case the general assets are insufficient to satisfy the claims of both the noteholders and the general creditors, the members, after satisfying the remaining demands of the noteholders, are liable to contribute towards payment of the debts of the general creditors a sum equal to the amount received by the noteholders out of the general assets of the company.

Any bank of issue registered as a limited company can make a statement on its notes to the effect that its limited liability does not extend to its notes, and that the members of the company continue liable in respect of its notes in the same manner as if it had been registered as an unlimited company.<sup>3</sup>

Once at least in every year the accounts of every banking company registered as a limited company must be examined by an auditor or auditors, who must be elected annually by the company in general meeting.<sup>1</sup>

Director or

A director or officer of the company is not capable of being elected auditor of such company.<sup>2</sup>
An auditor on quitting office is re-eligible.<sup>3</sup>

On any casual vacancy in the office of auditor the surviving auditor (if any) may act, but if there is no surviving auditor, the directors shall forthwith call an extraordinary general meeting for the purpose of supplying the vacancy or vacancies in the auditorship.<sup>4</sup> auditor.

The auditor must have a list delivered to him of all books kept by the company, and must also have access to the books and accounts of the company. He may examine the directors or officers of the company in relation to the books and accounts.

If the banking company has branch banks beyond the limits of Europe it will be sufficient if the auditor is allowed access to such copies of or extracts from the books and accounts of any such branch as may have been transmitted to the head office of the banking company in the United Kingdom.<sup>5</sup>

The auditor or auditors must make a report to the members on the accounts, and on a balance sheet which must be laid before the company in general meeting. The report must state whether in the opinion of the auditors the balance sheet is a full and fair one properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct state of the company's affairs as shown by its books. The auditor's report must be read before the company in general meeting. The remuneration of the auditors is fixed by the general meeting appointing them and is paid by the company.<sup>1</sup>

Balance sheets submitted to general meetings must be signed by the auditor or auditors, by the secretary or manager if any, and by the directors of the company or three of such directors at least.<sup>2</sup>

If the registrar of joint stock companies has reasonable cause to believe that a company is not carrying on business or in operation he must send to the company by post a letter inquiring if it is carrying on business or in operation.

If he receive no reply within a month, he, within fourteen days after the expiration of the month sends a registered letter to the company referring to the first, and stating that no answer has been received thereto, and that if an answer is not received to the second letter within one month a notice will be

If the registrar receives an answer that the company is not carrying on business, or receives no answer within a month from the second letter, he publishes in the Gazette and sends a notice to the company, that, at the expiration of three months from the date of that notice, the name of the company mentioned therein will be struck off the register, and the company dissolved, unless cause is shown to the contrary.<sup>1</sup> company.

In an action against a company, any summons, notice, order or other document required to be served upon the company may be served by leaving the same, or sending it through the post in a pre-paid letter addressed to the company at their registered office.<sup>2</sup> The document must be posted in due time to admit of its being delivered within the period prescribed for its service. No certificate of incorporation is to be issued until the deposit has been made. The deposit is to be returned to the company as soon as its life assurance fund, accumulated out of the premiums, has amounted to £40,000.<sup>3</sup> Until returned to the company the deposit is deemed to form part of the life assurance fund of the company.<sup>4</sup> When such a company carries on other business besides that of life assurance, a separate account must be kept of all receipts in respect of the life assurance and annuity contracts of the company. No hearing is granted to the petition until both security for costs is given and a prima facie case made out to the satisfaction of the judge. In the case of a proprietary company, the Court suspends proceedings—on the petition—for a reasonable time, to allow calls to be made to produce a sufficient amount of assets to meet the liabilities.<sup>3</sup>

There are, however, a large number of joint stock companies not formed under the Companies Act, 1862;<sup>1</sup> with regard to these that Act specially provides, that every company consisting of seven or more members, and formed in pursuance of any Act of Parliament, other than the Companies Act, 1862, or otherwise duly constituted by law, may, with one unimportant exception, register under the Companies Act, 1862,<sup>2</sup> and will, when so registered, except in one or two unimportant particulars, be subject to its provisions in the same way as a company formed under the Act.

valued according to the tables used by the company which granted such annuity at the time of granting the same, and where such table cannot be ascertained or adopted to the satisfaction of the Court, then according to the table known as the Government Annuities Experience Table, interest being reckoned at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum.

In calculating such present value the rate of interest is to be assumed as being 4 per cent. per annum, and the rate of mortality as that of the tables known as the Seventeen Offices Experience Tables. The premium to be calculated is to be such premium as, according to such rate of interest and rate of mortality, is sufficient to provide for the risk incurred by the office in issuing the policy exclusive of any addition thereto for office expenses and other charges, 35 & 36 Vict. c. 41, s. 5, and Schedule I.

The one class of companies which may not register under the Act, are mutual companies enjoying limited liability by virtue of Act of Parliament or letters patent:—probably no such company exists; but the reason of excluding them from the privilege of registering, is the inapplicability, to such companies, of the provisions for winding up.<sup>1</sup> The Companies Act, 1862, also contains provisions for the compulsory winding up of companies not registered under the Act;<sup>2</sup> such companies cannot be wound up voluntarily or under the supervision of the Court, but only by the Court.

As both the registration under the Act, of companies formed in some other way, and the winding up of unregistered companies seldom occur in practice, they are beyond the scope of a work of this size, and the reader is referred for further particulars on these points to the Acts themselves.

CHAPTER III.

OF THE RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF MEMBERS,
THE NATURE AND TRANSFERS OF SHARES, THE MANAGEMENT OF A COMPANY, AND A SPECIAL AND EXTRAORDINARY RESOLUTION.

EVERY company is required to keep a list of its members, that is, of the members composing it.<sup>1</sup> The register must be open to inspection during business hours between 10 and 4 o'clock,<sup>2</sup> gratis to members, and on payment of a sum not exceeding 1s. to others.<sup>3</sup> The company has power to close the register for any period not exceeding thirty days in each year.<sup>4</sup> Every company having its capital divided into shares is required to forward yearly a list of its members, together with other particulars, to the registrar of joint stock companies.<sup>5</sup> If the name of any person is, without sufficient cause, entered or omitted from the register of members, or if default is made or unnecessary delay takes place in entering on the register the fact of any person having ceased to be a member of the company, the person or member aggrieved, or any member of the company, or the company itself may, by motion in any of Her Majesty's Superior Courts of Law or Equity, or by application in Chambers, or to the Vice Warden of the Stannaries, if the company be under his jurisdiction, or in such other manner as the Court may direct, apply for an order of the Court that the register may be rectified; and the Court may, if satisfied of the justice of the case, make an order for the rectification of the register. The Court may, on any such application, decide on any question relating to the title of any person, who is a party to such proceedings, to have his name entered on or omitted from the register, and generally the Court may, in any such proceedings, decide any question that may be necessary or expedient to decide for the rectification of the register.<sup>1</sup>

Misrepresentation.

Where any person has been induced by the misrepresentation, either of an individual or of the company, to become a member, his proper course is to proceed against the individual or directors by action, and to make application in the manner before mentioned, to have his name taken off the list of members and for rectification of the register. He must, however, do this before a petition for winding up the company has been presented, as a contributory in a winding-up under the Act of 1862, cannot plead the fact of his having been induced to take his shares by misrepresentation, as a reason for his being struck off the list of contributories.<sup>1</sup>

The rule that exaggeration as distinguished from misrepresentation will not invalidate a contract, applies with peculiar force to companies. The promoters of adventures are so prone to form sanguine expectations as to the prospects of the schemes which they introduce to the public, that some high climbing and exaggeration in the description of the advantages which are likely to be enjoyed by the subscribers to the undertaking, may generally be expected in such documents. No prudent man can, owing to the well-known prevalence of exaggeration in such documents, accept the prospectus which is held out by the originators of every new scheme without considerable abatement. But though the prospectus of a new company ought not to be tried by as strict a test as is applied in other cases, they are required to be fair, honest, and bond fide. There must be no misstatement of any material facts or circumstances.<sup>2</sup>

Contracts to take shares are governed by the same rules as other contracts, and to constitute a binding agreement to take shares, the letter of application must be followed by, and that allotment must be communicated to the applicant.<sup>1</sup> Mere allotment and entry of the applicant's name on the register is not sufficient to bind him, as it is not the duty of the applicant to see whether the allotment has been made or not. The notice of allotment need not be communicated in writing, but there must be notice verbal or in writing to show the applicant that the company has accepted his offer.<sup>2</sup>

Transfer of shares.

In scrip companies, and in limited companies where the shares have been fully paid up,<sup>3</sup> mere delivery constitutes a sufficient transfer; but generally shares are only transferable by deed or writing under seal.

By the Companies Act, 1862, shares in companies under that Act are to be transferred in manner provided by the regulations of the company.<sup>4</sup> The form provided by the Act is to be executed by both transferor and transferee.<sup>5</sup> It is very common for the transfer of shares to be subject to certain restrictions, the most usual one being that all calls shall have been previously paid, while another often is that the directors shall consent to the transfer. In such a case the directors are in the position of trustees being bound to act bond fide and not capriciously.<sup>1</sup> Subject to any such regulations the right of transfer is absolute, so that a conveyance to a pauper will be valid unless made fraudulently.<sup>2</sup>

The term "contributory" means every person <sup>Contributoraries.</sup> liable to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up.<sup>3</sup> Contributoraries are divided into two classes: (1) Present members; (2) Past members. (Past members liable as contributoraries, are persons who have not ceased to be members for a period of a year or upwards prior to the commencement of the winding-up.) Where the company is limited by shares or guarantee, no contribution can be required from any member exceeding the amount unpaid on his shares or guarantee. The past members are not liable to contribute, until <sup>Past members.</sup> it appears to the Court, that the existing members are unable to satisfy the contributions required from them, and are then not liable for debts contracted since they ceased to be members. In practice the contributoraries of a company are divided into two

"A" and "B" list of contributors. classes : (1) the "A" list ; (2) the "B" list. The "A" list consists of the present members, i.e., of those who are members of the company at the commencement of the winding-up. The "B" list consists of past members who have ceased to be members within a year before the commencement of the winding-up. The "A" list is settled as early in the winding-up as possible, but it is the uniform practice of the Court not to settle the "B" list until it has been shown that the present members are unable to satisfy the debts.

Liability of "B" contributors. The "A" contributories are primarily liable to pay the debts, and must be first individually exhausted before any "B" contributory can be called upon. The liability of a "B" contributory does not arise until all the assets of the company (including the "A" contributions) have been applied in payment pari passu of all the debts of the company, and is then limited :

1. In the case of a limited company—To the amount left unpaid on his shares by the corresponding "A" contributory.
2. To such residuum of the debts contracted before he ceased to be a member as still remain undischarged.<sup>1</sup>

The Court will not marshal in favour of the creditors, but will first apply the funds obtained from the "A" contributories to all the debts equally, and will then call upon the "B" contributories for those funds only for which they are liable.<sup>1</sup>

The contributions received from the "B" members are not however divided exclusively among the old creditors in respect of whose debts they are paid, but form part of the general assets of the company for the payment of all the creditors.<sup>2</sup>

In the case of successive transfers of shares,<sup>Successive transfers.</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Lord Westbury in Well v. Wiffin, 5 H. L. 728, lays down the rule as follows—"The direction (of section 38) is this: You will apply all that you can get from the existing members in payment of the existing debts, no matter of what date. If after you have done that, there remain debts unsatisfied, so that you have to resort to the members who have passed away from the company within a year, then you will be compelled to classify the residuum of the debts so remaining, and ascertain what part of that residuum is to be attributed to past debts; that is to debts which pre-existed the transfer made by past members, and what portion is to be attributed to the new debts which have arisen subsequently to the date of the last transfer. When you have ascertained the proportion which is attributable to debts which existed when the transfers were made, then if there have been several transfers within the year, you will be compelled of necessity to sub-divide that portion of the residuum into several portions according as you find that transfers have been made within the past year." although as between themselves, each transferor has a right to be indemnified by his transferee, yet as regards the company, every person who has held the shares within a year before the commencement of the winding-up, is liable to be placed upon the "B" list, and the liquidator may place all such persons upon the list, and come upon any one of them for the calls.<sup>1</sup>

The Act does not invalidate any provision contained in any policy of insurance, or other contract, limiting the liability of individual members, or whereby the funds of the company are alone liable in respect of such policy or contract.

Contracts
limiting the liability of the members.

The liability of any person to contribute to the assets of a company, under the Companies Act, 1862, in the event of its being wound up, creates a debt in the nature of a specialty, accruing due from such person at the time when his liability commenced, but payable at the time or times when calls are made for enforcing such liability. In the case of the bankruptcy of a contributory proof may be made against his estate for the estimated value of his liability to future calls as well as calls already made.<sup>2</sup> This, however, cannot be done where the company is a going concern, for then the liability to future calls is incapable of being fairly estimated.<sup>3</sup>

Transfers of shares are frequently made, when a company is threatened with insolvency, for the purpose of getting rid of liability; these are good, even when the transferee is a man of straw, if the whole interest in the shares has been bona fide parted with, and the transferor will only be liable as a "B" contributory, or if the transfer was made more than one year before the commencement of the winding-up, will escape liability altogether, although he knew at the time the transfer was made that the company was hopelessly insolvent.<sup>1</sup>

A corporation may prove a debt, vote and otherwise act in bankruptcy by an agent duly authorized under the seal of the Corporation, Bankruptcy Act, 1869, s. 80, par. 7, see also G. R. 1870 (Bank) rules 15, 69.

Where, however, the company is situated within the jurisdiction of the Stannaries, the rule is different, as the Stannaries Act, 1869 (32 & 33 Vict. c. 19), s. 35, expressly declares that a transfer for the purpose of getting rid of liability for a nominal or no consideration, or to a person without apparent ability to pay the expenses of working a mine, or to a person in the menial or domestic employment of the transferor, shall be presumed to be fraudulent, and need not be recognised by the company or by the Court on the winding-up. heir-at-law, will be liable to be placed on the list of contributories,<sup>1</sup> but as no liability attaches to the real estate until the personal estate is exhausted, the personal representatives should, in strictness, be first placed upon the list, and then if their means are found insufficient to pay the calls, the devisees should be called upon to supply the deficiency, but in order to prevent needless expense, the Court allows both the personal representatives and the heirs and devisees, to be put, at the same time, upon the list of contributories, when the personal estate is obviously insufficient, in order that the case may be proved once for all against both sets of representatives.

On bankruptcy.

In the case of the bankruptcy of a shareholder, his trustee in bankruptcy is placed upon the list, and proof may be made against the bankrupt's estate for the amount of contribution due from him.<sup>2</sup>

On marriage.

The husband of a female shareholder will in the same way be a contributory in respect of her shares, and the right course is to settle both husband and wife on the list of contributories, so that if the wife survive her liability may survive also,<sup>3</sup> although if she has separate estate, and has contracted on the credit of it, her name will be added to the list in respect of such estate.<sup>4</sup>

The rights of a contributory with regard to debts owing to him, from the company, vary according to the nature of the debt, and company.

The debt may be :—

1. A debt due to him in his character of member, e.g., for dividends.
2. A debt due to him as an ordinary creditor, e.g., for money advanced.

As regards the first class it is expressly provided<sup>1</sup> that no sum due to any member of the company in his character of member, shall be deemed to be a debt of the company payable to such member in a case of competition between himself and any other creditor not being a member of the company ; but any such sum may be taken into account for the purposes of the final adjustment of the rights of contributories amongst themselves.

The rights of the contributory where his debt is of the second class, formerly were supposed to differ in a “limited” and an “unlimited” company, but are now the same in both cases. The contributory cannot set off his debt, but must first pay all claims due from him to the company, and will then be entitled to receive a dividend on his debt with the other creditors;<sup>2</sup> and it makes no difference whether the call was made before or after the order for winding-up.<sup>1</sup> If, however, the contributory is bankrupt, the bankruptcy rule prevails, and his trustee may set off against the calls any debt (except one due to the bankrupt as a member) due from the winding-up company to the contributory.<sup>2</sup>

Shares.

The shares of a company formed under the Companies Act, 1862, are personal estate, and each share, in the case of a company having its capital divided into shares, must be distinguished by its appropriate number.<sup>3</sup> They are not goods, wares, or merchandize, within the 17th section of the Statute of Frauds; so that they do not require a written memorandum for their sale, when the price exceeds £10, and the buyer does not accept and receive any part, nor give something in earnest to bind the bargain, or in part payment.<sup>4</sup> But any warrants.

In a company limited by shares, share-warrants may be issued in respect of shares fully paid-up or stock.<sup>1</sup> The share-warrants pass by delivery, and are negotiable instruments,<sup>2</sup> payable to bearer. Interest on them can be payable by coupons or otherwise.<sup>3</sup> The bearer is entitled to have his name placed on the list of members on surrendering the warrant for cancellation.<sup>4</sup> A share-warrant is liable to a stamp duty equal to three times the amount chargeable on a deed transferring the share or shares.<sup>5</sup> No trusts can be recorded on the register,<sup>6</sup> and consequently trustees are liable as contributories. Notice of any increase in the capital of a company, or of any consolidation, or division, of its shares, or of conversion of its shares into stock, must be given to the registrar of joint stock companies.<sup>7</sup>

orders.

A judgment creditor can obtain Ex parte an order charging any stock or shares standing to the credit of the judgment debtor with the amount of his debt. No proceedings can be taken to enforce the charge until six months from the date of the order.<sup>8</sup> Notice of the order operates as a distressing.<sup>9</sup>

The management of the company is usually left <sup>Directors.</sup> to a board of directors; their authority is limited by the memorandum and articles of association, and they are the particular not general agents of the company,<sup>1</sup> and anyone, third parties, as well as members of the company, are deemed to be acquainted with the instruments creating their authority, and any act of the directors exceeding their limited authority will be void unless it be capable of being, and be sanctioned by the company. The conduct of the directors can generally only be impugned at a general meeting, for they are the servants of the company, and not of the individual shareholders.<sup>2</sup> As they themselves are agents, the rule delegatus non potest delegare is prima facie <sup>Delegation of powers by</sup> directors. applicable to them, and their power of acting through agents and binding the company by the acts of their agents is governed entirely by the <sup>Unlimited liability of</sup> directors. articles of association. In general their liability is the same as ordinary members; it is, however, provided by the Companies Act, 1867,<sup>3</sup> that the liability of the directors of a limited company, may, if so provided by the memorandum of association, as originally prepared, or as altered by special resolution, be unlimited. But even in this case no contribution required from any such director, or manager, is to exceed the amount which he is liable to contribute as an ordinary member, unless the Court deems it necessary to require such contribution, in order to satisfy the debts and liabilities of the company and the costs of winding-up;<sup>1</sup> the liability of a past director, in his character of director, ceases one year after he has given up the office, and he is not liable, in his character of director, in respect of debts or liabilities contracted after the period of his holding office.<sup>2</sup> In addition to this they are personally liable (on the ordinary principles of agency): (1) when they exceed their authority; (2) for any misrepresentation of which they are guilty; and (3) to the company itself for any loss arising from unauthorized investments. In the same way a director signing a promissory note, with nothing in itself to exclude his personal liability, will be personally liable upon it.

With regard to contracts made on behalf of companies, the Companies Act, 1867,<sup>3</sup> provides that companies may be able to contract, by their duly authorised agents, in exactly the same way as individuals, that is: (1) Where the contract is required by law to be in writing, under seal,<sup>4</sup> it must be in writing under the common seal of the company; (2) Where a contract is required by law to be in writing and signed by the parties to be charged therewith, it may be signed by the duly authorised agent of the company ; and (3) Where the contract would by law be valid, although by parol only, and not reduced into writing, it may be made by parol by anyone having the express or implied authority of the company to make it ; and that the contract may in each case be varied or discharged in the same way as it may be made.

In all companies majorities of shareholders can authorise and sanction matters relating to the management and affairs of the company provided such matters do not affect its constitution, i.e., are not ultra vires. A power to borrow may be given by special resolution.<sup>1</sup> But in the absence of an authority in the memorandum of association the issuing of preference shares is an alteration of the constitution of the company and ultra vires.<sup>2</sup> And when the articles give power to issue preference shares to a limited number the number cannot be increased by special resolution,<sup>4</sup> the principle being

Resolutions.

The Act of 1862 provides for three sorts of majorities—a majority simply, which is what the name implies, a majority of creditors at a duly convened and constituted meeting; a special and an extraordinary resolution.

Special resolution.

Definition.

A special resolution may be briefly defined as a resolution passed by three-fourths of the members present at a general meeting, of which notice specifying the intention to propose such resolution has been duly given, and confirmed by a subsequent resolution, passed by a majority at a subsequent general meeting, of which notice has been duly given, held at an interval of not less than fourteen days nor more than one month from the date of the first meeting.<sup>1</sup> A copy of every special resolution must be printed, published, and forwarded to the registrar of joint stock companies for registration;<sup>2</sup> and a copy of every special resolution for the time being in force must be annexed to or embodied in every copy of the articles of association issued after the passing of the resolution.<sup>3</sup>

Extraordinary resolution.

An extraordinary resolution is a resolution passed by three-fourths of the members present at a general meeting, of which notice specifying the intention to propose such resolution has been <sup>Definition.</sup> duly given, but needs no confirmation.<sup>1</sup> In other words, an extraordinary resolution is the first step of a special resolution.

s. 51.

Unless a poll is demanded by at least five members, the declaration of the chairman that any resolution has been carried is to be deemed conclusive evidence of the fact. Where a poll is <sup>Poll.</sup> demanded, in computing the majority reference is to be had to the number of the votes to which each member is entitled by the regulations of the company.<sup>2</sup> Voting by proxy will be allowed unless expressly precluded by the articles of association. By the Stamp Act, 1870,<sup>3</sup> proxies for voting are liable to a stamp duty of one penny, and are only available at a specified meeting, or at an adjournment thereof.

<sup>2</sup> Ibid. s. 51. The usual voting power of members is one vote for every share up to ten, one for every additional five shares up to one hundred, and one for every additional ten shares beyond the first hundred. No member can vote unless all calls due from him have been paid.

CHAPTER IV.

THE WINDING-UP OF JOINT STOCK COMPANIES.

THE Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice has jurisdiction over the winding-up of all companies registered in England,<sup>1</sup> except companies engaged in working mines within and subject to the jurisdiction of the Stannaries, and these, if the Vice-Warden of the Stannaries certifies, that in his opinion, the company will be more advantageously wound up there, may, too, be wound up by the Chancery Division. But where the Court makes an order for winding up a company, it may, if it think fit, direct all subsequent proceedings for winding up the same, to be had in the Court of Bankruptcy, having jurisdiction in the place where the registered office of the company is situated,<sup>2</sup> or in the County Court.<sup>3</sup>

Three kinds of winding-up are provided by the Act :—

<sup>1</sup> A partnership, association, or company corporate or registered under the Companies Act 1862, cannot be adjudged bankrupt. Bank. Act, 1869 (32 & 33 Vict. c. 71), s. 5. <sup>2</sup> The Companies Act, 1862, s. 81. <sup>3</sup> The Companies Act, 1867, s. 41.

1. Winding-up by the Court.
2. Voluntary winding-up.
3. Winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court.

The general scheme is the same in all these methods. The modus operandi of the Act is to change the directors for officers called "Liquidators," and to give the latter the fullest powers to convert the property of the company into money. This money is then distributed amongst the creditors of the company, and any balance is divided amongst its members. The great distinction between compulsory or winding-up by the Court, and voluntary winding-up, is, that in the first case, the liquidators are officers appointed by, and are agents of, the Court, and if the company is insolvent, are trustees only for the creditors, whereas, in the second class, they are trustees for the company, and the voluntary winding-up need not necessarily imply insolvency, as it is very frequently adopted as a scheme for dissolving the company, for the purpose of changing its objects, or constitution, or of amalgamation with some other company. In the case of a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, the liquidators are appointed by the company, but are subject to the control of the Court.

pulsory and voluntary winding-up.

Winding-up
subject to supervision.

It will be as well in the first place to mention the details of each kind of winding-up, and then to consider its general effects.

When a company may be wound up by the Court.

First, winding-up by the Court.

A company may be wound up by the Court :

1. Whenever the company has passed a special resolution requiring the company to be wound up by the Court :
2. Whenever the company does not commence its business within a year from its incorporation, or suspends its business for the space of a whole year :<sup>1</sup>
3. Whenever its members are reduced in number to less than seven :<sup>2</sup>
4. Whenever the company is unable to pay its debts :
5. Whenever the Court is of opinion that it is just and equitable that the company should be wound up.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>2</sup> If the number of members is reduced below seven and the company continues business for six months afterwards, each and every member who is cognizant of the fact is liable for the whole of the debt of the company. The Companies Act, 1862, s. 48.

s. 79. An unregistered company may be wound up : (a) Whenever the company is dissolved or has ceased to carry on business, or is carrying on business only for the purpose of winding up its affairs ; (b) Whenever the company is unable to pay its debts ; (c) Whenever the court thinks that it is just or equitable that it should be wound up. The Companies Act, 1862, s. 199, ss. 3. As to the winding-up of unregistered companies, see secs. 199—204.

As the creditor is precluded from suing the individual members of the company, it was necessary to provide him with a summary method of compelling the company, either to pay his debt or be wound up; it is accordingly provided by a subsequent section, that a company shall be deemed unable to pay its debts :—

1. Whenever a creditor (by assignment or otherwise) to whom the company is indebted, at law or in equity, in a sum exceeding £50, has served on the company, by leaving the same at their registered office, a demand requiring payment of the sum due, and the company has for three weeks neglected to pay, secure, or compound for the same :
2. Whenever execution or other process, issued on a judgment, decree, or order obtained in any Court against the company, is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part :
3. Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the company is unable to pay its debts.<sup>1</sup>

Any application for the winding-up of a company must be by petition, which may be presented: Petition.

<sup>1</sup> The Companies Act, 1862, s. 80. The cases in which an unregistered company will be held to be unable to pay its debts, are practically the same. See sec. 199, subs. 4.

Who may petition.

- (1) By the company ; (2) By one or more creditors ;
- (3) By one or more contributories of the company, or by all or any of the above parties together or separately.<sup>1</sup>

In the case of a life assurance company, a petition may also be presented by a policy holder on the ground of the company's insolvency.<sup>2</sup>

Contributory.

In order, however, to prevent a person buying shares solely for the purpose of presenting a petition for winding up, it is provided by the Companies Act, 1867,<sup>3</sup> that no contributory shall be capable of presenting a petition for winding up a company (except in the event of the members being reduced to less than seven), unless the shares in respect of which he is a contributory, or some of them, either were originally allotted to him, or have been held by him, and registered in his name, for a period of at least six months, during the eighteen months previous to the commencement of the winding-up, or have devolved upon him through the death of a former holder. But where a share has, during the whole or any part of the six months, been held by or registered in the name of a wife of a contributory, either before or after her marriage, or by or in the name of any trustee or trustees for such wife, or for the contributory, such share is deemed to have been held by and registered in the name of the contributory. A contributory, however, who has not paid a call made upon him, cannot present a winding-up petition.<sup>1</sup> It is not necessary (except where the creditor's right to a winding-up order arises from non-payment of his debt for three weeks after demand) that the petitioning creditor's debt should amount to £50, and the assignee of a debt can petition<sup>2</sup> as though he had been the original creditor. A holder of fully paid-up shares has also been held to be a contributory for the purpose of presenting a petition.<sup>3</sup> Where a petitioner resides out of the jurisdiction he can be compelled to give security for costs.<sup>4</sup> A Petitioner dominus litis.

Advertising petition.

The petition must be verified by affidavit,<sup>3</sup> and must be advertised seven clear days before the hearing, once in the London Gazette, and once at least in two London daily morning papers, in the case of a company whose registered office, or where it has no such office, then whose principal, or last known place of business is or was situate within ten miles from Lincoln's Inn Hall. In the case of any other company, it must be advertised once in the London Gazette, and once at least in two local papers circulating in the district where such registered office, or principal, or last known place of business, is or was situate.

What it must contain.

Service of petition.

The advertisement must state the day on which the petition was presented, and the name and address of the petitioner, and of his solicitor and London agent. Unless presented by the company it must be served at the registered office (if any) of

Any order for winding up a company by the Court or subject to supervision, must be advertised by the petitioner once in the London Gazette within twelve days after its date, and be served on such persons (if any) and in such manner as the Court directs.<sup>3</sup> A copy of the order must then be left in chambers within ten days after it has been passed and entered and a summons to proceed taken out upon it. by the petitioner, any other person interested in the winding-up may take it, and the judge may give the carriage of the order to such person, if he think fit. On the return of the summons, a time is fixed for the appointment of an official liquidator, for proof of debts, and for the list of contributories to be brought in, and directions are given as to advertisements.<sup>1</sup> The official liquidator is then appointed by the order of the judge.<sup>2</sup> This may be with or without previous advertisement.<sup>3</sup> He gives security by recognizance with two or more sureties in such sum as the judge approves of. The security of a guarantee society may be accepted by the judge.<sup>4</sup> His appointment must be advertised immediately after he has been appointed and given security.<sup>5</sup> All money, bills, notes, and other securities for money received by the official liquidator, must be paid into the Bank of England.<sup>6</sup> On each occasion of passing his accounts, the official liquidator must satisfy the judge that his sureties are living, resident in Great Britain, and solvent.<sup>7</sup>

The petitioner's costs are a first charge on the <sup>Costs of</sup> ~~petitioner.~~ estate, and must be paid in full in priority to all other claims. If the petitioner is a shareholder, and subsequently becomes liable as a contributory in respect of calls in the winding-up, he is entitled to his costs without any set-off from the company for monies due from him in respect of such calls, as the costs are in fact due to his solicitor.<sup>1</sup> Where several petitions are presented under circumstances which justify their presentation, the practice is to make one order on all the petitions, so that each petitioner may obtain his costs.<sup>2</sup> With respect to the costs of persons who appear to support or oppose a petition although not served with it, there appears to be no settled rule. But in the absence of special circumstances the rule appears to be : (1) To allow one set of costs to those contributories, and one set to those creditors who (without being served) appear on the petition and support the view which ultimately prevails, i.e., support a successful or oppose an unsuccessful petition ; (2) To give no costs to those who (not being served) support an unsuccessful or oppose a successful petition ; but (3) To make a petitioner pay the costs of persons who appear to answer and succeed in refuting unfounded charges made against them.<sup>3</sup>

Petitions presented by a creditor,

In petitions presented by a creditor, as the creditor cannot obtain payment of his debt, the Court is bound ex debito justitiae, to make a winding-up order,<sup>1</sup> but it is only ex debito justitiae that a creditor obtains his order when there is some chance of his getting paid by means of it. If there are no assets that a winding-up order can reach (as if all the assets are fully charged in favour of debenture holders and other creditors oppose), an immediate order may be refused.<sup>2</sup>

Any appeal from an order or decision made in the winding-up of a company, must be brought within twenty-one days.<sup>5</sup>

Powers of

He has power, with the sanction of the Court,—

1. To bring and defend actions :
2. To carry on the business of the company so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding-up :<sup>4</sup>
3. To sell the property of the company :
4. To execute, in the name of the company, all deeds, receipts, and other documents, and for that purpose to use the company's seal :
5. To prove and take dividends in the matter of a bankruptcy or sequestration of a contributory :

7. To take out in his official name letters of administration to any deceased contributory, and to do in his official name any other act necessary for obtaining payment of any sum due from a contributory or from his estate, and which cannot be conveniently done in the name of the company :
8. To do and execute all such other acts and things as may be necessary for winding up the affairs of the company and distributing its assets.<sup>1</sup>

The Court may provide by any order that the official liquidator may exercise any of the above powers without the sanction or intervention of the Court.<sup>2</sup> The official liquidator may, with the sanction of the Court, appoint a solicitor.<sup>3</sup> But as between the official liquidator and his solicitor the official liquidator is not personally liable for the costs of the winding-up.<sup>4</sup> The solicitor's costs are regulated by a schedule of fees under the General

Orders of 1862.<sup>1</sup> In practice it is the invariable rule that a liquidator, who is a solicitor, shall not employ his partner as his solicitor in the winding-up, unless he be willing to act without remuneration.<sup>2</sup>

Advertisements are issued for the creditors to send in particulars of their claims.<sup>3</sup> Any claim may be allowed or the official liquidator may require the creditor to prove it.<sup>4</sup> The creditor is allowed the cost of proving his debt where successful.<sup>5</sup> The liquidator is entitled to deliver interrogatories to a person claiming to prove who has made an affidavit of documents.<sup>6</sup>

The next duty of the official liquidator is to prepare the list of those persons who are liable to contribute to the assets as the present members, or more technically speaking, to complete the "A" list of contributories; he then obtains an appointment for the list to be settled by the Judge in chambers, and gives four days' notice in writing of such appointment to every person included in the list, and in case any variation or addition to such

All contributories and creditors are entitled at their own costs to attend the proceedings in the winding-up.<sup>2</sup>

of the official liquidator.

The remuneration of the official liquidator is by way of percentage or otherwise as the Court directs,<sup>3</sup> and is paid out of the assets next after the costs of the winding-up.<sup>4</sup>

Certificate that company is wound up.

The solicitor's claim for costs takes priority over that of the official liquidator.<sup>5</sup> On the termination of the proceedings in Chambers, a balance sheet of his receipts and payments is brought in by the official liquidator. On payment of the balance found due from him on passing his final account, his recognizance is vacated.<sup>6</sup> A certificate is then given by the Chief Clerk that the affairs of the company have been completely wound up, and unless the company has already been dissolved an order is made dissolving it.<sup>7</sup>

The following consequences ensue upon the voluntary winding-up of a company :

Consequences of voluntary
winding-up.

1. The property of the company is applied in satisfaction of its liabilities pari passu, and subject thereto, is (unless it be otherwise provided by the regulations of the company) distributed amongst the members according to their rights and interests in the company :
2. Liquidators are appointed and their remuneration fixed by the company in general meeting :
3. Where one person only is appointed, all the provisions in reference to several liquidators apply to him :
4. Upon the appointment of the liquidators, all the powers of the directors cease, except so far as the company in general meeting, or the liquidators, sanction the continuance of such powers :
5. When several liquidators are appointed, every power given by the Act may be exercised by such one or more of them as may be determined at their appointment, or in default of such determination, by any number not less than two :
6. The liquidators may, without the sanction of the Court, exercise all powers by the Act given to the official liquidator :<sup>1</sup>

7. The liquidators exercise the powers given to the Court of settling the list of contributories, and any list so settled is prima facie evidence of the liability of the persons named therein to be contributories :
8. The liquidators may call on all or any of the contributories to the extent of their liability, to pay all or any sum they deem necessary to satisfy the debts and liabilities of the company, and the costs of winding it up, and the liquidators may take into consideration the probability that some of the contributories may partly or wholly fail to pay their respective portions of the same :
9. The liquidators must pay the debts of the company and adjust the rights of the contributories amongst themselves.<sup>2</sup> resolution enter into any arrangement with respect to the powers to be exercised by its liquidators.<sup>1</sup>

The liquidators, or any contributory of the company, may apply to the Court to determine any question arising in the winding-up, or to exercise all or any of the powers which the Court might exercise if the company were being wound up by the Court; and the Court may, if satisfied that the determination of such question, or the required exercise of powers, will be just and beneficial, accede wholly or partially to such application on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks fit.<sup>2</sup>

General meetings.

The liquidators may also from time to time summon general meetings of the company, for the purpose of obtaining the sanction of the company, by special or extraordinary resolution, or for any other purpose they think fit; and in the event of the winding-up continuing more than one year, they must summon a general meeting at the end of the first and each succeeding year, and must lay before such meeting an account showing their acts and dealings, and the manner in which the winding-up has been conducted during the preceding year.<sup>3</sup> death, resignation, or otherwise, may be filled up by the company, in general meeting, subject to any arrangement they have entered into with their creditors.<sup>1</sup> If from any cause there is no liquidator, the Court may, on the application of a contributory, appoint a liquidator. A liquidator in a voluntary winding-up can only be removed by the Court.<sup>2</sup> As soon as the affairs of the company are fully wound up, the liquidators must prepare an account showing how the liquidation has been conducted, and the property of the company disposed of; their next step is to call a general meeting for the purpose of considering the account; the meeting must be called by advertisement, specifying the time, place, and object of the meeting, and must be published for one month at least—previously to the meeting—in the London Gazette.<sup>3</sup> The liquidators must make a return to the registrar of such meeting having been held, and of the date at which the same was held, and at the expiration of three months from the date of the registration of such return the company is deemed to be dissolved.<sup>4</sup> The costs incurred in the voluntary winding-up of a company, including the

subject to the supervision of the Court.

Thirdly, winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court. This takes place where a company, in the course of voluntary winding-up, has proceedings taken against it for its winding-up by the Court; in such a case, the Court may make an order directing that the voluntary winding-up shall continue, but subject to its supervision, and with such liberty for creditors, contributories, or others, to apply to the Court, and generally upon such terms and conditions as the Court thinks just.<sup>3</sup> A petition, praying that a voluntary winding-up may continue subject to the supervision of the Court, is, for the purpose of giving the Court jurisdiction over suits and actions, to be deemed a petition for the winding-up of the company by the Court.<sup>4</sup> The Court may, in all matters relating to the winding-up under supervision, have regard to the wishes of the creditors or contributories, and may direct general meetings of them to be summoned, for the purpose of ascertaining their wishes.<sup>1</sup> An order for winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court usually continues the voluntary liquidators as official liquidators; but the Court may appoint any liquidator or liquidators (in addition to those appointed in the voluntary winding-up), and any liquidators so appointed have the same powers, and are subject to the same obligations, and in all respects stand in the same position, as the liquidators appointed by the company.<sup>2</sup> The liquidators appointed in a winding-up subject to supervision, may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Court, exercise all their powers without the sanction or intervention of the Court, in the same manner as if the company was being wound up altogether voluntarily.<sup>3</sup> But except as before mentioned, an order for winding-up a company under the supervision of the Court, is, for all purposes, to be deemed an order of the Court for winding-up the company by the Court.<sup>4</sup>

As to the general effects of winding-up.

The winding-up of a company by the Court commences at the time of the presentation of the petition for winding-up.

tion.<sup>1</sup> A voluntary winding-up commences from the time of the passing of the resolution authorising the winding-up;<sup>2</sup> when however, the resolution is a special resolution, i.e., a preliminary, followed by a confirmatory resolution, the commencement of the winding-up dates from the passing of the confirmatory resolution.<sup>3</sup> Where a voluntary winding-up is continued under supervision, the winding-up commences at the date of the resolution, and not at the date of the presentation of the petition, for this order is to continue the winding-up, which has already commenced.<sup>4</sup> The effect of the winding-up is to put an end to the existence of the company, except for the purpose of the beneficial winding-up of the company. Consequently, in a voluntary winding-up, all transfers of shares, except transfers made by or with the sanction of the liquidators, or alteration in the status of the members of the company, taking place after the commencement of such winding-up, are void;<sup>5</sup> where the company is wound up by the Court or subject to its supervision, all dispositions of the property, effects, and things in action of the company, and every transfer of shares or alteration in the status of the members of the company, made between the commencement of the winding-up and the winding-up order, are void unless the Court otherwise orders.<sup>1</sup>

The Court may, at any time after the presentation of the petition, and before an order for winding-up of a company, upon the application of the company, or of any creditor or contributory of the company, restrain further proceedings in any action, suit, or proceedings, against the company upon such terms as it thinks fit.<sup>2</sup> After an order for winding-up has been made, no suit, action, or proceeding may be proceeded with or commenced against the company, except with the leave of the Court,<sup>3</sup> and any attachment, sequestration, distress, or execution put in force against the estate or effects of the company (without such leave) after the commencement of the winding-up is void.<sup>4</sup> Any application to stay proceedings in an action in the Common Law Division against the company, must be made in the Common Law Division in which the action is attached, and not in the Chancery Division.<sup>5</sup>

as in bankruptcy.<sup>1</sup> Nor does section 87 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1869, apply to executions against a company; and the sheriff in executions against a company is not bound to hold the proceeds of the execution for 14 days before paying them over to the execution creditor.<sup>2</sup>

The powers of restraining proceedings apply to a company being wound up under the supervision of the Court,<sup>3</sup> and as the Court may in a voluntary winding-up on the application of the liquidators or a contributory, exercise all or any of the powers which it may exercise if the company is being wound up by the Court,<sup>4</sup> it has, upon such application, power to restrain any proceedings after the commencement of the winding-up, but such proceedings are not ipso facto void, as in the case of a winding-up by or under the supervision of the Court.

In a voluntary winding-up.

Discretionary with the Court to allow an execution creditor to proceed with his judgment or not.

It is a question for the discretion of the Court whether it will allow a creditor to proceed or not, and where a creditor of the company obtains judgment and issues execution bona fide, and the sheriff is actually in possession before the presentation of the petition, the creditor will not, except under special circumstances, be restrained from realizing his judgment.<sup>1</sup>

The liquidators are empowered, with the sanction of the Court, where the company is being wound up by the Court or subject to its supervision, and with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution of the company where it is being voluntarily wound up, to compromise all calls, debts, and claims due to the company from any contributory or debtor, and to give valid discharges for the same.<sup>2</sup>

Any application to a judge to sanction a compromise with a contributory or debtor of the company must be supported by an affidavit of the official liquidator, that he has investigated the affairs of such contributory or debtor, and state his belief that the compromise will be beneficial to the company, and his reasons for so thinking.<sup>3</sup> The sanction is obtained by summons.<sup>4</sup>

The Companies Act, 1862, contains powers for companies being wound up to make arrangements or compositions with their creditors, but as a more easy and effectual means has been provided by the Joint Stock Companies Arrangement Act, 1870, it will only be necessary to refer to the provisions of this last Act, which empowers the Court, where any compromise or arrangement is proposed between a company in the course of being wound up and its creditors or any class of its creditors (in whatever way the company is being wound up), on the application of any creditor or the liquidator, to order that a meeting of such creditors be summoned, in such manner as the Court directs, and if a majority in number representing three-fourths in value of the creditors present either in person or by proxy at such meeting, agree to any arrangement or compromise, such arrangement or compromise, if sanctioned by an order of the Court, is binding on all such creditors or class of creditors, and also on the liquidators and contributories of the company.<sup>1</sup>

may accept shares, &c., as a consideration for the sale of the company.

One of the most important powers of the liquidators under a voluntary winding-up, or a winding-up under the supervision of the Court, is that of selling the business and goodwill of the company being wound up to another company, in consideration of shares, policies, or other like interests. This power can only be exercised, with the sanction of a special resolution of the company being wound up, but if done with such sanction is binding on the minority. Any dissentient member may, however, by notice in writing addressed to the liquidators, and left at the registered office of the company not later than seven days after the passing of the resolution, require the liquidators, at their option, either to abstain from carrying the resolution into effect, or to purchase his interest.<sup>1</sup>

Where the business of one company has been novation taken over by another, a question frequently arises as to the novation of contracts, or, in other words, how far the creditors have agreed to accept the security of the new company for payment of their debts, and to release the old one. A contract, in order to constitute such a release, need not be in writing, but must be tripartite, the creditor, the original debtor, and the new debtor must all be parties to it, and in such case it is a question of fact whether such agreement has been entered into or not.<sup>2</sup>

The Life Assurance Companies Act, 1872, s. 7,<sup>3</sup> What will provides that where a company has transferred its amount to a interest, or been amalgamated with another com- novation in the case of a life assurance company.

<sup>2</sup> Buckley on Joint Stock Companies, 2nd ed., p. 310. The term novation is one introduced from the Roman law. "Novation is the dissolution of one obligation by the formation of another." Any contract, civil or natural, could be extinguished by a new contract operating either civilly or naturally being formed. The new contract must be different from the old, and pany, the mere fact that a policy holder has paid premiums to the new company, shall not be deemed to be an abandonment of his rights against the old one. To do this, the abandonment of the old company and acceptance of the liability of the new must be signified by writing, signed by the policy holder or by his lawfully authorised agent.

(1), the terms might be altered; or (2), a new debtor introduced. The new debtor might be substituted even without the consent of the old debtor; this new debtor was called expromissor, in the strict sense of that word. If the old debtor substituted another person as the new debtor in his own place, this was termed delegatio. A new creditor might also be introduced. (Sandar's Justinian, 5th ed., p. 563.)

Mode of enforcing calls.

How calls are made.

Where the company is being wound up by the Court, or under its supervision, there is no necessity for the liquidators to bring an action for the payment of any money due from a contributory, as the Court has power to make an order directing payment to be made by him,<sup>1</sup> and such order has the same effect, and can be enforced in the same way, as any other order of the Chancery Division. Such calls are made by summons served four clear days before the day appointed for making the call on every contributory proposed to be included in such call, or by direction of the judge notice of the intended call may be given by advertisement. After this a copy of the order, with notice of the amount due, is sent to each contributory, and in default of payment he is served with a balance order requiring payment in the usual way.<sup>2</sup>

An order for payment will not be made against a bankrupt contributory, and payment in such case

can only be enforced by the Court of Bankruptcy.<sup>1</sup>

In a voluntary winding-up, however, the liquidator's only remedy for the non-payment of calls is by action.<sup>2</sup> The Court has, however, in every case power to arrest a contributory about to abscond.<sup>3</sup>

All debts payable on a contingency, and all claims against the company, present or future, certain or contingent, ascertained or sounding only in damages, are admissible to proof against the company.<sup>4</sup>

The liquidator in a winding-up is entitled to deliver interrogatories to a person claiming to prove in the same way as in an action.<sup>5</sup>

The rule as to a secured creditor formerly was that he was entitled to prove for the whole amount due to him at the time of sending in his claim, and not merely as in bankruptcy for the balance remaining due after realizing or valuing his security.<sup>6</sup> But this rule has been altered by the Judicature Act, 1875,<sup>7</sup> which provides that in the winding-up of a company the same rules shall be observed, as to the rights of secured and unsecured creditors, as may be in force, for the time being under the law of bankruptcy, with respect to the estates of persons adjudicated bankrupt.

This section has been the subject of many conflicting decisions, and the question who are or are not secured creditors can hardly be considered to be settled. The Master of the Rolls in In re Albion Steel Wire Company<sup>1</sup> and V.C. Malins in In re Association of Land Financiers<sup>2</sup> held that the bankruptcy rule,<sup>3</sup> that servants' wages are entitled to be paid in priority to all other debts, is by sec. 10 of the Judicature Act, 1875, extended to the winding-up of companies. These cases, however, appear inconsistent with the decision of the Court of Appeal in In re Withernsea Brickworks,<sup>4</sup> in which it was held by the Court of Appeal overruling In re Printing and Numerical Registering Company,<sup>5</sup>

<sup>3</sup> 32 & 33 Vict. c. 71, s. 32, ss. 2, provides that the debts thereafter mentioned shall be paid in priority to all other debts : 1. All rates, taxes, &c. 2. All wages or salary of any clerk or servant in the employment of the bankrupt at the date of the order of adjudication, not exceeding four months' wages or salary, and not exceeding £50 ; all wages of any labourer or workman in the employment of the bankrupt at the date of the order of adjudication, and not exceeding two months' wages. In the Stannaries the wages of miners, and other labourers employed in a mine within the jurisdiction of the Stannaries, not exceeding three months' wages, are paid in full in priority to all other debts. that sec. 87 of the Bankruptcy Act, 1864, which deprives execution creditors of the fruits of an execution where the Sheriff has notice of an act of bankruptcy within 14 days after sale, is not made applicable to the winding-up of companies.

It appears from recent decisions that a winding-up order constitutes the official liquidator a trustee for the creditors so as to prevent the Statute of Limitations from barring their debts.<sup>1</sup> The assignee of any chose in action belonging to the company, may bring or defend any action or suit relating to such chose in action in his own name.<sup>2</sup>

Any act relating to property which would, if done by or against any individual trader, be deemed, in the event of his bankruptcy, to have been done by way of undue or fraudulent preference of the creditors of such trader is, if made or done by or against any company, deemed, in the event of the company being wound up, to be done by way of undue or fraudulent preference of the creditors of the company, and is invalid accordingly; and for this purpose, the presentation of the petition, in the case of a company being wound up by or subject to

By W. GREGORY WALKER, B.A.,

Of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law, Author of "The Partition Acts, 1868 and 1876; a Manual of the Law of Partition and of Sale in lieu of Partition," and Editor of Griffith's "Married Women's Property Acts."

"We highly approve of Mr. Walker's arrangement. . . . The Notes are full, and as far as we have been able to ascertain, carefully and accurately compiled. . . . We can commend it as bearing on its face, evidence of skilful and careful labour, and we anticipate that it will be found a very acceptable substitute for the ponderous tomes of the much esteemed and valued Williams." —Law Times.

"Mr. Walker is fortunate in his choice of a subject, and the power of treating it succinctly, for the ponderous tomes of Williams, however satisfactory as an authority, are necessarily inconvenient for reference as well as expensive. . . . On the whole we are inclined to think the book a good and useful one." —Law Journal.

REVIEWS.

"Our modern reform is real, and it is certainly beneficent, and depending as it does much upon the decisions of the judges, it is no small advantage that it is so ably explained by such authors and editors as Mr. Griffith and Mr. Loveland." —Law Times.

"Mr. W. Downes Griffith appears to have met with the success which we confidently anticipated for his book when it first came out. His system of annotation remains fuller than that of most of his contemporaries, and rises not unfrequently to the rank of an Excursus on a branch of Law." —Law Magazine and Review.

AN APPENDIX OF FORMS AND PRECEDENTS.

By SIDNEY E. WILLIAMS, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law.

"Mr. Williams' arrangement of the procedure under his various headings, which include Payment out, Trustee Relief Act, Lands Clauses Act, Settled Estates Act, and many other subjects of jurisdiction which have from time to time been conferred on the Court of Chancery or the Lunacy jurisdiction by special statutes, is very convenient. The chapter on the Lands Clauses Act is especially good."—Law Times.

"The book is furnished with a selection of Forms and Precedents; the arrangement of matter seems convenient; and we have found it easy to consult. We have not observed any important omission within the scope of the Treatise, and the writer deserves the praise of having put together with some skill an unpretending work, which is at least more useful than certain larger law books we know of."—Solicitors' Journal.

By JOHN CUNNINGHAM,

Of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, Author of the "Law Relating to Parliamentary and Municipal Elections;" and

MILES WALKER MATTINSON.,

Of Gray's Inn, Barrister-at-Law.

REVIEWS.

"The notes are very pertinent and satisfactory; the introductory chapters on the present system of pleading are excellent, and the precedents will be found very useful."—Irish Law Times.

"For pupils, also, and beginners at the bar, the book will be very useful; because these, never having served an apprenticeship to the old system, are very apt to omit allegations, essential in certain cases to the validity of a pleading. The authors of the book before us have introduced their collection of forms to the reader by an essay on pleading under the new rules; and we think that a perusal of this essay, which is written in an attractive style, would do a great deal of good both to barristers and masters. We think that the authors have deserved well of the profession, and that they have produced a book likely to grow in favour even among those who at first might conceive a prejudice against a work of this kind."—Law Journal.

"A work which, in the compass of a single portable volume, contains a brief Treatise on the Principles and Rules of Pleading, and a carefully annotated body of Forms which have to a great extent gone through the entirely separate sifting processes of Chambers, Court, and Judges' Chambers, cannot fail to be a most useful companion in the Practitioner's daily routine."—Law Magazine and Review.

"The work contains a treatise on the new rules of pleading which is well written, but would bear compression. To most of the precedents there are notes referring to the decisions which are most useful to the pleader in connection with the particular cause of action involved. We are disposed to think that this is the most valuable portion of the work. It is extremely convenient to have some work which collects notes of this sort in connection with pleading."—Solicitors' Journal.

THE TAXATION OF COSTS

ON THE CROWN SIDE OF THE QUEEN'S BENCH DIVISION OF THE HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

BY FREDK. H. SHORT,

CHIEF CLERK IN THE CROWN OFFICE.

"This is decidedly a useful work on the subject of those costs which are liable to be taxed before the Queen's Coroner and Attorney (for which latter name that of 'Solicitor' might now well be substituted), or before the master of the Crown Office; in fact, such a book is almost indispensable when preparing costs for taxation in the Crown Office, or when taxing an opponent's costs. County solicitors will find the scale relating to bankruptcy prosecutions of especial use, as such costs are taxed in the Crown Office. The 'general observations' constitute a useful feature in this manual."—Law Times.

"This book contains a collection of bills of costs in the various matters taxable in the Crown Office. When we point out that the only scale of costs available for the use of the general body of solicitors is that published in Mr. Corner's book on 'Crown Practice' in 1844, we have said quite enough to prove the utility of the work before us.

"In them Mr. Short deals with 'Perusals,' 'Copies for Use,' 'Affidavits,' 'Agency,' 'Correspondence,' 'Close Copies,' 'Counsel,' 'Affidavit of Increase,' and kindred matters; and adds some useful remarks on taxation of 'Costs in Bankruptcy Prosecutions,' 'Quo Warranto,' 'Mandamus,' 'Indictments,' and 'Rules.'

"We have rarely seen a work of this character better executed, and we feel sure that it will be thoroughly appreciated."—Law Journal.

"The recent revision of the old scale of costs in the Crown Office renders the appearance of this work particularly opportune, and it cannot fail to be welcomed by practitioners. Mr. Short gives, in the first place, a scale of costs usually allowed to Solicitors on the taxation of costs in the Crown Office, and then bills of costs in various matters. These are well arranged and clearly printed."—Solicitors' Journal.

"We should be doing less than justice, however, to the usefulness of Mr. Hardcastle's book, if we did not point out a valuable special feature, consisting of an appendix devoted to the collection of a list of words which have been judicially or statutably explained, with reference to the cases in which they are so explained. We believe this is a feature peculiar to Mr. Hardcastle's Treatise, and it is one which cannot fail to command itself to the profession."—Law Magazine and Review.

"A vast amount of information will be found in its pages—much of it arranged so as to be got at without much difficulty. The chapters and sections being headed with lines of indication. We can only hope Mr. Hardcastle will receive that measure of success to which the amount of labour which he has evidently bestowed upon the work entitles him."—Law Times.

THE DOCTRINES AND PRINCIPLES OF THE LAW OF INJUNCTIONS.

BY WILLIAM JOYCE,
OF LINCOLN'S INN, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

"Mr. Joyce, whose learned and exhaustive work on 'The Law and Practice of Injunctions,' has gained such a deservedly high reputation in the Profession, now brings out a valuable companion volume on the 'Doctrines and Principles' of this important branch of the Law. In the present work the Law is enunciated in its abstract rather than its concrete form, as few cases as possible being cited; while at the same time no statement of a principle is made unsupported by a decision, and for the most part the very language of the Courts has been adhered to. Written as it is by so acknowledged a master of his subject, and with the conscientious carefulness that might be expected from him, this work cannot fail to prove of the greatest assistance alike to the Student—who wants to grasp principles freed from their superincumbent details—and to the Practitioner, who wants to refresh his memory on points of Doctrine amidst the oppressive details of professional work."—Law Magazine and Review.

THE LAW AND PRACTICE OF INJUNCTIONS.

EMBRACING ALL THE SUBJECTS IN WHICH

COURTS OF EQUITY AND COMMON LAW HAVE JURISDICTION.

BY WILLIAM JOYCE,
OF LINCOLN'S INN, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

REVIEWS.

"A work which aims at being so absolutely complete, as that of Mr. Joyce upon a subject which is of almost perpetual recurrence in the Courts, cannot fail to be a welcome offering to the profession and, doubtless, it will be well received and largely used, for it is as absolutely complete as it aims at being. . . . This work is, therefore, eminently a work for the practitioner, being full of practical utility in every page, and every sentence, of it. . . . We have to congratulate the profession on this new acquisition to digest of the law, and the author on his production of a work of permanent utility and fame."—Law Magazine and Review.

"Mr. Joyce has produced not a treatise but a complete and compendious exposition of the Law and Practice of Injunctions both in equity and common law.

"Part III. is devoted to the practice of the Courts. Contains an amount of valuable and technical matter nowhere else collected.

"This work, considered either as to its matter or manner of execution, is no ordinary work. It is a complete and exhaustive treatise both as to the law and the practice of granting injunctions. It must supersede all other works on the subject. The terse statement of the practice will be found of incalculable value. We know of no book as suitable to supply a knowledge of the law of injunctions to our common law friends as Mr. Joyce's exhaustive work. It is alike indispensable to members of the Common Law and Equity Bars. Mr. Joyce's great work would be a casket without a key unless accompanied by a good index. His index is very full and well arranged. We feel that this work is destined to take its place as a standard text-book, and the text-book on the particular subject of which it treats. The author deserves great credit for the very great labour bestowed upon it. The publishers, as usual, have acquitted themselves in a manner deserving of the high reputation they bear."—Canada Law Journal.

"From these remarks it will be sufficiently perceived what elaborate and painstaking industry, as well as legal knowledge and ability, has been necessary in the compilation of Mr. Joyce's work. No labour has been spared to save the practitioner labour, and no research has been omitted which could tend towards the elucidation and exemplification of the general principles of the Law and Practice of Injunctions."—Law Journal.

"He does not attempt to go an inch beyond that for which he has express written authority; he allows the cases to speak, and does not speak for them.

"The work is something more than a treatise on the Law of Injunctions. It gives us the general law on almost every subject to which the process of injunction is applicable. Not only English, but American decisions are cited, the aggregate number being 3,500, and the statutes cited 160, whilst the index is, we think, the most elaborate we have ever seen—occupying nearly 200 pages. The work is probably entirely exhaustive."—Law Times.

A DIGEST OF THE REPORTED CASES

RELATING TO THE

LAW AND PRACTICE OF

LETTERS PATENT FOR INVENTIONS,

Decided from the passing of the Statute of Monopolies to the present time;

Together with an Appendix, giving the Reported Cases from June 1875 to March 1880, as also some Cases not reported elsewhere.

By CLEMENT HIGGINS, M.A., F.C.S.,

OF THE INNER TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

"Mr. Higgins's work will be useful as a work of reference. Upwards of 700 cases are digested: and, besides a table of contents, there is a full index to the subject-matter: and that index, which greatly enhances the value of the book, must have cost the author much time, labour and thought."—Law Journal.

"This is essentially," says Mr. Higgins in his preface, "a book of reference." It remains to be added whether the compilation is reliable and exhaustive. It is only fair to say that we think it is; and we will add, that the arrangement of subject-matter (chronological under each heading, the date, and double or even triple references being appended to every decision) and the neat and carefully-executed index (which is decidedly above the average), are such as no reader of 'essentially a book of reference' could quarrel with."—Solicitors' Journal.

"On the whole Mr. Higgins's work has been well accomplished. It has ably fulfilled its object by supplying a reliable and authentic summary of the reported patent law cases decided in English courts of law and equity, while presenting a complete history of legal doctrine on the points of law and practice relating to its subject."—Irish Law Times.

"Mr. Higgins has, with wonderful and accurate research, produced a work which is much needed, since we have no collection of patent cases which does not terminate years ago. We consider, too, if an inventor furnishes himself with this Digest and a little treatise on the law of patents, he will be able to be as much his own patent lawyer as it is safe to be."—Scientific and Literary Review.

"Mr. Higgins's object has been to supply a reliable and exhaustive summary of the reported patent cases decided in English courts of law and equity, and this object he appears to have attained. The classification is excellent, being, as Mr. Higgins very truly remarks, that which naturally suggests itself from the practical working of patent law rights. The lucid style in which Mr. Higgins has written his Digest will not fail to recommend it to all who may consult his book; and the very copious index, together with the table of cases, will render the work especially valuable to professional men."—Mining Journal.

"The appearance of Mr. Higgins's Digest is exceedingly opportune. The plan of the work is definite and simple. We consider that Mr. Higgins, in the production of this work, has met a long-felt demand. Not merely the legal profession and patent agents, but patentees, actual or intending inventors, manufacturers, and their scientific advisers will find the Digest an invaluable book of reference."—Chemical News.

"The arrangement and condensation of the main principles and facts of the cases here digested render the work invaluable in the way of reference."—Standard.

"The work constitutes a step in the right direction, and it is likely to prove of much service as a guide, a by no means immaterial point in its favour being that it includes a number of comparatively recent cases."—Engineer.

"From these decisions the state of the law upon any point connected with patents may be deduced. In fine, we must pronounce the book as invaluable to all whom it may concern."—Quarterly Journal of Science.

THE LAW OF COMPENSATION FOR LANDS, HOUSES, &c.

Under the Lands Clauses, Railways Clauses Consolidation and Metropolitan Acts,
THE ARTIZANS & LABORERS' DWELLINGS IMPROVEMENT ACT, 1875.
WITH A FULL COLLECTION OF FORMS AND PRECEDENTS,

Fourth Edition,

Much enlarged, with many additional Forms, including Precedents of Bills of Costs.

BY EYRE LLOYD, OF THE INNER TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

"A fourth edition of Mr. Lloyd's valuable treatise has just been published. Few branches of the law affect so many and such important interests as that which gives to private individuals compensation for property compulsorily taken for the purpose of public improvements. The questions which arise under the different Acts of Parliament now in force are very numerous and difficult, and a collection of decided cases epitomised and well arranged, as they are in Mr. Lloyd's work, cannot fail to be a welcome addition to the library of all who are interested in landed property, whether as owners, land agents, public officers or solicitors."—MIDLAND COUNTIES HERALD.

"It is with much gratification that we have to express our unhesitating opinion that Mr. Lloyd's treatise will prove thoroughly satisfactory to the profession, and to the public at large. Thoroughly satisfactory it appears to us in every point of view—comprehensive in its scope, exhaustive in its treatment, sound in its exposition."—IRISH LAW TIMES.

"In providing the legal profession with a book which contains the decisions of the Courts of Law and Equity upon the various statutes relating to the Law of Compensation, Mr. Eyre Lloyd has long since left all competitors in the distance, and his book may now be considered the standard work upon the subject. The plan of Mr. Lloyd's book is generally known, and its lucidity is appreciated; the present quite fulfils all the promises of the preceding editions, and contains in addition to other matter a complete set of forms under the Artizans and Labourers Act, 1875, and specimens of Bills of Costs, which will be found a novel feature, extremely useful to legal practitioners."—JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

"The work is one of great value. It deals with a complicated and difficult branch of the law, and it deals with it exhaustively. It is not merely a compilation or collection of the statutes bearing on the subject, with occasional notes and references. Rather it may be described as a comprehensive treatise on, and digest of, the law relating to the compulsory acquisition and purchase of land by public companies and municipal and other local authorities, and the different modes of assessment of the compensation. All the statutes bearing on the subject have been collated, all the law on the subject collected, and the decisions conveniently arranged. With this comprehensiveness of scope is united a clear statement of principles, and practical handling of the points which are likely to be contested, and especially of those in which the decisions are opposed or differently understood."—LOCAL GOVERNMENT CHRONICLE.

THE SUCCESSION LAWS OF CHRISTIAN COUNTRIES, WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO

THE LAW OF PRIMOGENITURE AS IT EXISTS IN ENGLAND.

BY EYRE LLOYD, B.A.,

OF THE INNER TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

Author of "The Law of Compensation under the Lands Clauses Consolidation Acts," &c.

"Mr. Lloyd has given us a very useful and compendious little digest of the laws of succession which exist at the present day in the principal States of both Europe and America; and we should say it is a book which not only every lawyer, but every politician and statesman, would do well to add to his library."—PALL MALL GAZETTE.

"Mr. Eyre Lloyd compresses into little more than eighty pages a considerable amount of matter both valuable and interesting; and his quotations from Diplomatic Reports by the present Lord Lytton, and other distinguished public servants, throw a picturesque light on a narrative much of which is necessarily dry reading. We can confidently recommend Mr. Eyre Lloyd's new work as one of great practical utility, if, indeed, it be not unique in our language, as a book of reference on Foreign Succession Laws."—LAW MAGAZINE AND REVIEW.

"Mr. Eyre Lloyd has composed a useful and interesting abstract of the laws on the subject of succession to property in Christian countries, with especial reference to the law of primogeniture in England."—SATURDAY REVIEW.

"This is a very useful little handy book on foreign succession laws. It contains in an epitomised form information which would have to be sought for through a great number of scattered authorities and foreign law treatises, and will be found of great value to the lawyer, the writer, and the political student."—STANDARD.

CASES & OPINIONS ON CONSTITUTIONAL LAW, AND VARIOUS POINTS OF ENGLISH JURISPRUDENCE.

Collected and Digested from Official Documents and other Sources; with Notes. By WILLIAM FORSYTH, M.A., M.P., Q.C., Standing Counsel to the Secretary of State in Council of India, Author of "Hortensius," "History of Trial by Jury," "Life of Cicero, etc., late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

From the CONTEMPORARY REVIEW.

"We cannot but regard with interest a book which, within moderate compass, presents us with the opinions or responses of such lawyers and statesmen as Somers, Holt, Hardwicke, Mansfield, and, to come down to our own day, Lyndhurst, Abinger, Denman, Cranworth, Campbell, St. Leonards, Westbury, Chelmsford, Cockburn, Cairns, and the present Lord Chancellor Hatherley. At the end of each chapter of the 'Cases and Opinions,' Mr. Forsyth has added notes of his own, containing a most excellent summary of all the law bearing on that branch of his subject to which the 'Opinions' refer."

From the LAW MAGAZINE and LAW REVIEW.

"Mr. Forsyth has largely and beneficially added to our legal stores. His work may be regarded as in some sense a continuation of 'Chalmers's Opinions of Eminent Lawyers.' . . . The constitutional relations between England and her colonies are becoming every day of more importance. The work of Mr. Forsyth will do more to make these relations perfectly clear than any which has yet appeared. Henceforth it will be the standard work of reference in a variety of questions which are constantly presenting themselves for solution both here and in our colonies."

From the LAW TIMES.

"This one volume of 560 pages or thereabouts is a perfect storehouse of law, not readily to be found elsewhere, and the more useful because it is not abstract law, but the application of principles to particular cases. Mr. Forsyth's plan is that of classification. He collects in separate chapters a variety of opinions bearing upon separate branches of the law. . . . This is a book to be read, and therefore we recommend it not to all lawyers only, but to every law student. The editor's own notes are not the least valuable portion of the volume."

By HENRY GODEFROI, of Lincoln's Inn, and JOHN SHORTT of the Middle Temple, Barristers-at-Law.

"The title of this book is the best possible explanation of its contents. Here we have all the statutes affecting Railway Companies, with the standing orders of Parliament, in a volume exquisitely printed, and of most convenient size and

RICHARD RINGWOOD, B.A.,

Of the Middle Temple, Esq., Barrister-at-Law; late Scholar of Trinity College, Dublin.

"The author of this convenient handbook sees the point upon which we insist elsewhere in regard to the chief aim of any system of Bankruptcy Law which should deserve the title of National. . . . There can be no question that a sound measure of Reform is greatly needed, and would be welcomed by all parties in the United Kingdom. Pending this amendment it is necessary to know the Law as it is, and those who have to deal with the subject in any of its practical legal aspects will do well to consult Mr. Ringwood's unpretending but useful volume."—Law Magazine.

"Mr. Ringwood tells us in his preface that his work is chiefly intended for students, and it will no doubt be useful to them. On the other hand, the 'principles of bankruptcy' are not dealt with by Mr. Ringwood in the way we expected from the title of his book, which is, in fact, the Bankruptcy Act of 1869 itself arranged—no doubt at considerable labour—in about the most convenient form in which it can be presented to the student. The Table of Cases is carefully prepared, reference being made in each case to all the contemporary law reports. Mr. Ringwood has fairly and concisely stated the new and the old law as to bills of sale, and as to the rights of trustees in bankruptcy in connection therewith."—Law Times.

"The above work is written by a distinguished scholar of Trinity College, Dublin. Mr. Ringwood has chosen a most difficult and unattractive subject, but he has shown sound judgment and skill in the manner in which he has executed his task. His book does not profess to be an exhaustive treatise on bankruptcy law, yet in a neat and compact volume we have a vast amount of well-digested matter. The reader is not distracted and puzzled by having a long list of cases flung at him at the end of each page, as the general effect of the law is stated in a few well-selected sentences, and a reference given to the leading decisions only on the subject. . . . An excellent index, and a table of cases, where references to four sets of contemporary reports may be seen at a glance, show the industry and care with which the work has been done."—Daily Paper.

"Mr. Baldwin cannot expect, nor indeed does he appear to have attempted, to supersede the exhaustive treatises of Williams and Robson, but he has succeeded in compiling a really useful compendium of an exceedingly dry but widely important department of the Law, which will be found a convenient manual for the merchant as well as the lawyer. . . . ## REVIEWS.

"Despite its unpromising and cabalistic title, and the technical nature of its subject, it has so recommended itself to the profession that a second edition is called for within three years from the first publication; and to this call Mr. Brice has responded with the present volume, the development of which in excess of its predecessor is remarkable even in the annals of law books. Sixteen hundred new cases have been introduced, and, instead of five hundred pages octavo, the treatise now occupies a thousand very much larger pages. This increase in bulk is partly due to the incorporation with the English law on the subject of the more important American and Colonial doctrines and decisions—a course which we think Mr. Brice wise in adopting, since the judgments of American tribunals are constantly becoming more frequently quoted and more respectfully considered in our own courts, particularly on those novel and abstruse points of law for which it is difficult to find direct authority in English reports. In the present speculative times, anything relating to Joint-Stock Companies is of public importance, and the points on which the constitution and operation of these bodies are affected by the doctrine of Ultra Vires are just those which are most material to the interests of the shareholders and of the community at large. . . . Some of the much disputed questions in regard to corporations, on which legal opinion is still divided, are particularly well treated. Thus with reference to the authority claimed by the Courts to restrain corporations or individuals from applying to Parliament for fresh powers in breach of their express agreements or in derogation of private rights, Mr. Brice most elaborately and ably reviews the conflicting decisions on this apparent interference with the rights of the subject, which threatened at one time to bring the Legislature and the Courts into a collision similar to that which followed on the well-known case of Ashby v. White. . . . Another very difficult point on which Mr. Brice's book affords full and valuable information is as to the liability of Companies on contracts entered into before their formation by the promoters, and subsequently ratified or adopted by the Company, and as to the claims of promoters themselves for services rendered to the inchoate Company. . . . The chapter on the liabilities of corporations ex delicto for fraud and other torts committed by their agents within the region of their authority seems to us remarkably well done, reviewing as it does all the latest and somewhat contradictory decisions on the point. . . . On the whole, we consider Mr. Brice's exhaustive work a valuable addition to the literature of the profession.—SATURDAY REVIEW.

"The doctrine which forms the subject of Mr. Seward Brice's elaborate and exhaustive work is a remarkable instance of rapid growth in modern Jurisprudence. His book, indeed, now almost constitutes a Digest of the Law of Great Britain and her Colonies and of the United States on the Law of Corporations—a subject vast enough at home, but even more so beyond the Atlantic, where Corporations are so numerous and so powerful. Mr. Seward Brice relates that he has embodied a reference in the present edition to about 1600 new cases, and expresses the hope that he has at least referred to 'the chief cases.' We should think there can be few, even of the Foreign Judgments and Dicta which have not found their way into his pages. The question what is and what is not Ultra Vires is one of very great importance in commercial countries like Great Britain and the United States. Mr. Seward Brice has done a great service to the cause of Comparative Jurisprudence by his new revision of what was from the first a unique textbook on the Law of Corporations. He has gone far towards effecting a Digest of that Law in its relation to the Doctrine of Ultra Vires, and the second edition of his most careful and comprehensive work may be commended with equal confidence to the English, the American, and the Colonial Practitioner, as well as to the Scientific Jurist."—Law Magazine and Review.

"It is the law of Corporations that Mr. Brice treats of (and treats of more fully, and at the same time more scientifically, than any work with which we are acquainted) not the law of principal and agent; and Mr. Brice does not do his book justice by giving it so vague a title."—Law Journal.

"A guide of very great value. Much information on a difficult and unattractive subject has been collected and arranged in a manner which will be of great assistance to the seeker after the law on a point involving the powers of a company."—Law Journal. (Review of First Edition.)

"On this doctrine, first introduced in the Common Law Courts in East Anglian Railway Co. v. Eastern Counties Railway Co., BRICE ON ULTRA VIRES may be read with advantage."—Judgment of LORD JUSTICE BRAMWELL in the Case of Everesh v. L. & N. W. Ry. Co. [L. R., 3 Q. B. Div. 141.]

REVIEWS OF THE WORK.

From the NAUTICAL MAGAZINE, July, 1875.

"It is rarely that we find a book fulfilling the requirements of both classes; full and precise enough for the lawyer, and at the same time intelligible to the non-legal understanding. Yet the two volumes by Mr. Kay on the law relating to shipmasters and seamen will, we venture to say, be of equal service to the captain, the lawyer, and the Consul, in their respective capacities, and even of interest to the public generally, written as it is in a clear and interesting style, and treating of a subject of such vast importance as the rights and liabilities and relative duties of all, passengers included, who venture upon the ocean; more than that, we think that any able-seaman might read that chapter on the crew with the certainty of acquiring a clearer notion of his own position on board ship.

THE LAW RELATING TO SHIPMASTERS AND SEAMEN.

"We can make no charge of redundancy or omission against our author; but if we were called upon to select any one out of the fifteen parts into which the two volumes are divided as being especially valuable, we should not hesitate to choose that numbered three, and entitled 'The Voyage.' There the master will find a succinct and comprehensive statement of the law respecting his duties, general and particular, with regard to the ship and its freight from the moment when, on taking command, he is bound to look to the seaworthiness of the ship, and to the delivery of her log at the final port of destination. In Part IV., his duties are considered with respect to the cargo, this being a distinct side of his duplicate character, inasmuch as he is agent of the owner of the cargo just as much as the owner of the ship.

"Next in order of position come 'Bills of Lading' and 'Stoppage in Transitu.' We confess that on first perusal we were somewhat surprised to find the

From the LIVERPOOL JOURNAL OF COMMERCE.

"The Law relating to Shipmasters and Seamen"—such is the title of a voluminous and important work which has just been issued by Messrs. Stevens and Haynes, the eminent law publishers, of London. The author is Mr. Joseph Kay, Q.C., and while treating generally of the law relating to shipmasters and seamen, he refers more particularly to their appointment, duties, rights, liabilities, and remedies. It consists of two large volumes, the text occupying nearly twelve hundred pages, and the value of the subject of the delivery of goods by the master gives priority over that of bills of lading; the logical sequence, however, of these matters was evidently sacrificed, and we think with advantage to the author's desire for unity in his above-mentioned chapters on 'The Voyage.' That this is so is evidenced by the fact that after his seventh chapter on the latter subject he has left a blank chapter with the heading of the former and a reference ante. 'The power of the master to bind the owner by his personal contracts,' 'Hypothecation,' and 'The Crew,' form the remainder of the contents of the first volume, of which we should be glad to have made more mention, but it is obviously impossible to criticize in detail a work in which the bare list of cited cases occupies forty-four pages.

"The question of compulsory pilotage is full of difficulties, which are well summed up by Mr. Kay.

"In conclusion, we can heartily congratulate Mr. Kay upon his success."

From the LAW JOURNAL.

"The author tells us that for ten years he has been engaged upon it. . . Two large volumes containing 1181 pages of text, 81 pages of appendices, 98 pages of index, and upwards of 1800 cited cases, attest the magnitude of the work designed and accomplished by Mr. Kay.

"Mr. Kay says that he has 'endeavoured to work being enhanced by copious appendices and index, and by the quotation of a mass of authorities. . . The work must be an invaluable one to the shipowner, shipmaster, or consul at a foreign port. The language is clear and simple, while the legal standing of the author is a sufficient guarantee that he writes with the requisite authority, and that the cases quoted by him are decisive as regards the points on which he touches."

ON THE COMPULSORY PURCHASE of the UNDERTAKINGS OF COMPANIES BY CORPORATIONS,

And the Practice in Relation to the Passage of Bills for Compulsory Purchase through Parliament. By J. H. BALFOUR BROWNE, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; Author of "The Law of Rating," "The Law of Usages and Customs," &c., &c.

"This is a work of considerable importance to all Municipal Corporations, and it is hardly too much to say that every member of these bodies should have a copy by him for constant reference. Probably at no very distant date the property of all the existing gas and water companies will pass under municipal control, and therefore it is exceedingly desirable that the principles and conditions under which such transfers ought to be made should be clearly understood. This task is made easy by the present volume. The stimulus for the publication of such a work was given by the action of the Parliamentary Committee which last Session passed the preamble of the 'Stockton and Middlesborough Corporations Water Bill, 1875.' The volume accordingly contains a full report of the case as it was presented both by the promoters and opponents, and as this was the first time in which the principle of compulsory purchase was definitely recognised, there can be no doubt that it will long be regarded as a leading case. As a matter of course, many incidental points of interest arose during the progress of the case. Thus, besides the main question of compulsory purchase, and the question as to whether there was or was not any precedent for the Bill, the questions of water compensations, of appeals from one Committee to another, and other kindred subjects were discussed. These are all treated at length by the Author in the body of the work, which is thus a complete legal compendium on the large subject with which it so ably deals."

Decisions in reported Cases occupy a large portion of the text, together with the explanations pertinent to them. The general tenor of Mr. Whiteford's work is that of a digest of Cases rather than a treatise, a feature, however, which will not diminish its usefulness for purposes of reference."—Law Magazine and Review.

BY ARCHIBALD BROWN, M.A.

Edin. and Oxon., and B.C.L. Oxon., of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"Mr. Archibald Brown deserves the thanks of all interested in the science of law, whether as a study or a practice, for his edition of Herr von Savigny's great work on 'Obligations.' Mr. Brown has undertaken a double task—the translation of his author, and the analysis of his author's matter. That he has succeeded in reducing the bulk of the original will be seen at a glance: the French translation consisting of two volumes, with some five hundred pages apiece, as compared with Mr. Brown's thin volume of a hundred and fifty pages. At the same time the pith of Von Savigny's matter seems to be very successfully preserved, nothing which might be useful to the English reader being apparently omitted.

"The new edition of Savigny will, we hope, be extensively read and referred to by English lawyers. If it is not, it will not be the fault of the translator and epitomiser. Far less will it be the fault of Savigny himself, whose clear definitions and accurate tests are of great use to the legal practitioner."—Law Journal.

BY SEYMOUR F. HARRIS, B.C.L., M.A.,

OF WORCESTER COLLEGE, OXFORD, AND THE INNER TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW;

"Mr. Harris's digest ought to have very great success among law students both in the Inns of Court and the Universities. His book gives evidence of praiseworthy accuracy and laborious condensation."—LAW JOURNAL.

"This book contains a summary in English of the elements of Roman Law as contained in the works of Gaius and Justinian, and is so arranged that the reader can at once see what are the opinions of either of these two writers on each point. From the very exact and accurate references to titles and sections given he can at once refer to the original writers. The concise manner in which Mr. Harris has arranged his digest will render it most useful, not only to the students for whom it was originally written, but also to those persons who, though they have not the time to wade through the larger treatises of Poste, Sanders, Ortolan, and others, yet desire to obtain some knowledge of Roman Law."—OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE UNDERGRADUATES' JOURNAL.

THE STUDENTS' REMINDER AND PUPILS' HELP IN PREPARING FOR A PUBLIC EXAMINATION.

By THOMAS MARSH,

Private Tutor, Author of an "English Grammar," &c.

"In these days of competitive examination and well-nigh universal education, students will find a useful auxiliary in the 'Student's Reminder and Pupil's Help,' by Thomas Marsh, which gives in a concise form some fruitful information, that, just because it is elementary, is apt to be momentarily forgotten."—The Graphic.

"We welcome this compendium with great pleasure as being exactly what is wanted in this age of competitive examinations. It is evidently the work of a master hand, and could only be compiled by one thoroughly experienced in the work of teaching. Mr. Marsh has summarised and analysed the subjects required for the preliminary examinations of law students, as well as for the University and Civil Service examinations. He has paid special attention to mathematics, but the compendium also includes ancient and modern languages, geography, dictation, &c. It was a happy idea to make it quarto size, and the type and printing are clear and legible."—Irish Law Times.

"This remarkable volume might almost be described as containing a little of everything, and any student who masters its contents may fairly regard himself as standing well for such ordinary examinations as he may be called upon to pass. Mr. Marsh has evidently had great experience in preparing pupils for such tests, and he has in this work brought together a mass of leading points on a variety of subjects for their assistance."—City Press.

REVIEWS.

"Rarely has a text-book attained more complete and rapid success than Snell's 'Principles of Equity,' of which a fifth edition has just been issued."—Law Times.

"Seldom does it happen that a work secures so great a reputation as this book, and to Mr. Brown is due the credit of keeping it up with the times. . . . It is certainly the most comprehensive as well as the best work on Equity Jurisprudence in existence."—Oxford and Cambridge Undergraduate's Journal.

"The changes introduced by the Judicature Acts have been well and fully explained by the present edition of Mr. Snell's treatise, and everything necessary in the way of revision has been conscientiously accomplished. We perceive the fruitful impress of the 'amending hand' in every page; the results of the decisions under the new system have been carefully explained, and engrafted into the original text; and in a word, Snell's work, as edited by Mr. Brown, has proved the fallacy of Bentham's description of Equity as 'that capricious and inconsistent mistress of our fortunes, whose features no one is able to delineate.' He has added a book, comprising 127 pages, on the present 'Practice in Equity,' as to which he observes that it 'will be probably found by students very serviceable, and by practitioners very handy and convenient, seeing that it embodies the whole procedure (even in its minutest details), and at the same time collects it all together under efficient practical headings, with their sub-divisions, so much so that everything may be found in the 'Practice' without either difficulty of search or diversity of reference.' This, on the whole, accurately describes the general character and quality of that portion of the work; but at the same time, we must say that it cannot well claim to be much more than a skilful précis of the procedure as formulated and prescribed by the Acts and Rules themselves, with a few exceptions, but without anything like an expanded treatment such as might render that portion of the work equal to the portion dealing with the principles of equity. Suggested, however, by the necessities experienced by its writer in his own practice, it will doubtless prove useful to others in an equal degree; and it certainly forms a valuable and much-needed supplement to Mr. Snell's work."—Irish Law Times.

"We know of no better introduction to the Principles of Equity."— CANADA LAW JOURNAL.

"Within the ten years which have elapsed since the appearance of the first edition of this work, its reputation has steadily increased, and it has long since been recognised by students, tutors and practitioners, as the best elementary treatise on the important and difficult branch of the law which forms its subject. In editing the fourth edition, Mr. Brown, while 'working up the language and contents of the book to the level of the new procedure introduced by the Judicature Acts,' noting changes of the law, and correcting minor errors, has wisely abstained from interference with the general character of the work, which equally with its lucidity and trustworthiness has shared in gaining the approval of the profession. But he has added a new feature in an Epitome of the Practice in Equity which forms a valuable complement to the 'Principles,' equally useful to the young practitioner and to the student, by whom Principles and Practice should be concurrently studied. We think Mr. Brown is to be congratulated on having produced a really useful Epitome, which while not attempting to supersede the larger Practices, will be found a safe guide to the Practitioner in all ordinary proceedings."—Law Magazine and Review.

PRINCIPLES OF CONVEYANCING.

AN ELEMENTARY WORK FOR THE USE OF STUDENTS.

By HENRY C. DEANE, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law, sometime Lecturer to the Incorporated Law Society of the United Kingdom.

"Mr. Deane is one of the Lecturers of the Incorporated Law Society, and in his elementary work intended for the use of students, he embodies some lectures given at the hall of that society. It would weary our readers to take them over the ground necessarily covered by Mr. Deane. The first part is devoted to Corporeal Hereditaments, and the second to Conveyancing. The latter is prefaced by a very interesting 'History of Conveyancing,' and for practical purposes the chapter (Ch. 2, Part II.) on Conditions of Sale is decidedly valuable."—Law Times.

"We hope to see this book, like Snell's Equity, a standard class-book in all Law Schools where English law is taught."—CANADA LAW JOURNAL.

"It seems essentially the book for young conveyancers, and will, probably, in many cases supplant Williams. It is, in fact, a modern adaptation of Mr. Watkin's book on conveyancing, and is fully equal to its prototype."—Irish Law Times.

"Extremely useful to students, and especially to those gentlemen who are candidates for the various legal examinations. There are so many questions set now on case law that they would do well to peruse this treatise of Mr. Deane's, and use it in conjunction with a book of questions and answers. They will find a considerable amount of equity case law, especially in the second part of Mr. Deane's book, which comprises in substance some lectures delivered by the author at the Law Institution."—Law Journal.

A Summary of the Law and Practice in Admiralty.

FOR THE USE OF STUDENTS.

By EUSTACE SMITH,

Of the Inner Temple; Author of "A Summary of Company Law."

"It is however, in our opinion, a well and carefully written little work, and should be in the hands of every student who is taking up Admiralty Law at the Final."—Law Students' Journal.

"The divisions of his book are sensible, his language is concise, and he has succeeded, without overweighting any part of it, to give the student a very just appreciation of the origin of the Courts of Admiralty, the claims that can be enforced in them, and the mode of practice as it at present exists. Altogether Mr. Eustace Smith has turned out a book in a small compass which is to be commended."—Articled Clerks' Journal.

"Mr. Smith has a happy knack of compressing a large amount of useful matter in a small compass, the present work will doubtless be received with satisfaction equal to that with which his previous 'Summary' has been met."—Oxford and Cambridge Undergraduates' Journal.

A Summary of the Law and Practice in the Ecclesiastical Courts.

FOR THE USE OF STUDENTS.

By EUSTACE SMITH,

Of the Inner Temple; Author of "A Summary of Company Law," and "A Summary of the Law and Practice in Admiralty."

"His object has been, as he tells us in his preface, to give the student and general reader a fair outline of the scope and extent of ecclesiastical law, of the principles on which it is founded, of the Courts by which it is enforced, and the procedure by which these Courts are regulated. We think the book well fulfils its object. Its value is much enhanced by a profuse citation of authorities for the propositions contained in it."—Bar Examination Journal.

PRINCIPLES OF THE COMMON LAW.

INTENDED FOR THE USE OF STUDENTS AND THE PROFESSION.

SECOND EDITION.

BY JOHN INDERMAUR, SOLICITOR,

AUTHOR OF "A MANUAL OF THE PRACTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT,"
"EPITOMES OF LEADING CASES," AND OTHER WORKS.

"Mr. Indermaur renders even law light reading. He not only possesses the faculty of judicious selection, but of lucid exposition and felicitous illustration. And while his works are all thus characterised, his 'Principles of the Common Law' especially displays those features. That it has already reached a second edition, testifies that our estimate of the work on its first appearance was not unduly favourable, highly as we then signified approval; nor needs it that we should add anything to that estimate in reference to the general scope and execution of the work. It only remains to say, that the present edition evinces that every care has been taken to insure thorough accuracy, while including all the modifications in the law that have taken place since the original publication; and that the references to the Irish decisions which have been now introduced are calculated to render the work of greater utility to practitioners and students, both English and Irish."—Irish Law Times.

"This work, the author tells us in his Preface, is written mainly with a view to the examinations of the Incorporated Law Society; but we think it is likely to attain a wider usefulness. It seems, so far as we can judge from the parts we have examined, to be a careful and clear outline of the principles of the common law. It is very readable; and not only students, but many practitioners and the public might benefit by a perusal of its pages."—SOLICITORS' JOURNAL.

"Mr. Indermaur has very clear notions of what a law student should be taught to enable him to pass the examinations of the Incorporated Law Society. In this, his last work, the law is stated carefully and accurately, and the book will probably prove acceptable to students."—Law Times.

"Mr. Indermaur's book will doubtless be found a useful assistant in the legal pupil room. The statements of the law are, as far as they go, accurate, and have been skilfully reduced to the level of learners. Mr. Indermaur possesses one great merit of an instructor—he is able to bring out the salient points on wide subjects in a telling manner."—Law Journal.

"Mr. Indermaur has acquired a deservedly high reputation as a writer of convenient epitomes and compendiums of various branches of the Law for the use of students. Within the limits which the author has assigned to himself, he has certainly given proof of praiseworthy industry, accuracy, and clearness of exposition, which cannot fail to be of the greatest advantage to the law student. The practising solicitor will also find this a very useful compendium. Care has evidently been taken to note the latest decisions on important points of law. A full and well-constructed index supplies every facility for ready reference."—Law Magazine.

A MANUAL OF THE PRACTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT OF JUDICATURE,

In the Queen's Bench, Common Pleas, Exchequer, and Chancery Divisions. Intended for the use of Students. By JOHN INDERMAUR, Solicitor.

"This is a very useful student's book. It is clearly written, and gives such information as the student requires, without bewildering him with details. The portion relating to the Chancery Division forms an excellent introduction to the elements of the practice, and may be advantageously used, not only by articled clerks, but also by pupils entering the chambers of equity draftsmen."—Solicitors' Journal.

"Intended for the use of students, this book is executed with that accurate knowledge and care which distinguish Mr. Indermaur. It treats carefully of the steps to be taken in the several divisions, and in the appendix is given a table of some of the principal times of proceedings. Not only the student but the practitioner will find this little volume of use."—Law Times.

The first edition of this work was published in February, 1873, the second in April, 1874, and now we have a third edition dated September, 1875. His advice is practical and sensible: and if the course of study he recommends is intelligently followed, the articled clerk will have laid in a store of legal knowledge more than sufficient to carry him through the final examination."—Solicitors' Journal.

"This book contains recommendations as to how a complete course of study for the above examination should be carried out, with reference to the particular books to be read seriatim. We need only remark that it is essential for a student to be set on the right tack in his reading, and that any one of ordinary ability, who follows the course set out by Mr. Indermaur, ought to pass with great credit."—Law Journal.

SECOND EDITION, revised throughout, and considerably enlarged.

By ARCHIBALD BROWN,

M.A. Edin. and Oxon., and B.C.L. Oxon., of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; Author of the "Law of Fixtures," "Analysis of Savigny's Obligations in Roman Law," &c.

Reviews of the Second Edition.

"So far as we have been able to examine the work, it seems to have been most carefully and accurately executed, the present Edition, besides containing much new matter, having been thoroughly revised in consequence of the recent changes in the law; and we have no doubt whatever that it will be found extremely useful, not only to students and practitioners, but to public men, and men of letters."—IRISH LAW TIMES.

"Mr. Brown has revised his Dictionary, and adapted it to the changes effected by the Judicature Acts, and it now constitutes a very useful work to put into the hands of any student or articled clerk, and a work which the practitioner will find of value for reference."—SOLICITORS' JOURNAL.

"It will prove a reliable guide to law students, and a handy book of reference for practitioners."—LAW TIMES.

"This work, laborious and difficult as it was, has been admirably carried out, and the work is really what it professes to be, a complete compendium. An index to a dictionary is a novelty, but from the exceptional nature of the contents an index was likely to be most useful, and accordingly Mr. Brown has prefixed to the book a copious index by which a student can at once turn to the main body of the work and obtain the information he requires. Authorities and cases are abundantly cited, and Mr. Brown can claim with justice to call his book an institute of the whole law."—Standard.

"In a modest preface Mr. Brown introduces us to a rather ambitious work. He has endeavoured to compress into less than four hundred pages the whole law of England, and has evidently bestowed much pains on the execution of the task. He does not, however, aim at anything higher than rendering a service to students preparing for the Bar or for the lower branch of the profession, and there can be no doubt that he has produced a book of reference which will be useful to the class he has had in view. Mr. Brown has perhaps done about as much as any one, not a rare genius, could do, and his Dictionary will be serviceable to those who are in want of hints and references, and are content with a general idea of a law or legal principle. It is a handy book to have at one's elbow."

AGRICULTURAL HOLDINGS ACT, 1875,

Incorporating the principal American Decisions, and generally bringing the law down to the present time.

By ARCHIBALD BROWN, M.A. Edin. and Oxon., and B.C.L. Oxon.,

OF THE MIDDLE TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

"The decisions given since the second edition of this work was published in the important cases of Ex parte Daglish, in re Wilde, and Ex parte Barclay, in re Joyce, and several other further decisions of the Courts on the Law of Fixtures, have rendered a third edition desirable. The author has taken the opportunity to recast the general form of his treatise. . . . We have already adverted to the recent cases of Ex parte Daglish, in re Wilde, and Ex parte Barclay, in re Joyce. The author treats of them at some length; and the conclusion at which he arrives is very important, and claims the attention of legal draftsmen and solicitors.

"We have touched on the principal features of this new edition, and we have not space for further remarks on the book itself; but we may observe that the particular circumstances of the cases cited are in all instances sufficiently detailed to make the principle of law clear; and though very many of the principles given are in the very words of the judges, at the same time the author has not spared to deduce his own observations, and the treatise is commendable as well for originality as for laboriousness."

PRINCIPLES OF THE CRIMINAL LAW.

INTENDED AS A LUCID EXPOSITION OF THE SUBJECT FOR THE USE

Author of "A Concise Digest of the Institutes of Gaius and Justinian."

REVIEWS.

"There is no lack of Works on Criminal Law, but there was room for such a useful handbook of Principles as Mr. Seymour Harris has supplied. Accustomed, by his previous labours, to the task of analysing the law, Mr. Harris has brought to bear upon his present work qualifications well adapted to secure the successful accomplishment of the object which he had set before him. That object is not an ambitious one, for it does not pretend to soar above utility to the young practitioner and the student. For both these classes, and for the yet wider class who may require a book of reference on the subject, Mr. Harris has produced a clear and convenient Epitome of the Law. A noticeable feature of Mr. Harris's work, which is likely to prove of assistance both to the practitioner and the student, consists of a Table of Offences, with their legal character, their punishment, and the statute under which it is inflicted, together with a reference to the pages where a Statement of the Law will be found."—LAW MAGAZINE AND REVIEW.

"This work purports to contain 'a concise exposition of the nature of crime, the various offences punishable by the English law, the law of criminal procedure, and the law of summary convictions,' with tables of offences, punishments, and statutes. The work is divided into four books. Book I. treats of crime, its divisions and essentials; of persons capable of committing crimes; and of principals and accessories. Book II. deals with offences of a public nature; offences against private persons; and offences against the property of individuals. Each crime is discussed in its turn, with as much brevity as could well be used consistently with a proper explanation of the legal characteristics of the several offences. Book III. explains criminal procedure, including the jurisdiction of Courts, and the various steps in the apprehension and trial of criminals from arrest to punishment. This part of the work is extremely well done, the description of the trial being excellent, and thoroughly calculated to impress the mind of the uninitiated. Book IV. contains a short sketch of 'summary convictions before magistrates out of quarter sessions.' The table of offences at the end of the volume is most useful, and there is a very full index. Altogether we must congratulate Mr. Harris on his adventure."—Law Journal.

"Mr. Harris has undertaken a work, in our opinion, so much needed that he might diminish its bulk in the next edition by obliterating the apologetic preface. The appearance of his volume is as well timed as its execution is satisfactory. The author has shown an ability of omission which is a good test of skill, and from the overwhelming mass of the criminal law he has discreetly selected just so much only as a learner needs to know, and has presented it in terms which render it capable of being easily taken into the mind. The first half of the volume is devoted to indictable offences, which are defined and explained in succinct terms; the second half treats of the prevention of offences, the courts of criminal jurisdiction, arrest, preliminary proceedings before magistrates, and modes of prosecution and trial; and a brief epitome of the laws of evidence, proceedings after trial, and summary convictions, with a table of offences, complete the book. The part on procedure will be found particularly useful. Few young counsel, on their first appearance at sessions, have more than a loose and general notion of the manner in which a trial is conducted, and often commit blunders which, although trifling in kind, are nevertheless seriously discouraging and annoying to themselves at the outset of their career. From even such a blunder as that of mistaking the order in which the speeches are made and witnesses examined, they may be saved by the table of instructions given here."—SOLICITORS' JOURNAL.

"Le livre de M. Seymour F. Harris est un manuel de droit criminel, destiné aux étudiants en droit et aux praticiens. Il contient une exposition, concise mais complète, sobre mais très-claire, des faits punissables, des peines édictées par la loi, de l'organisation des juridictions criminelles et de la manière de procéder devant elles. Ce qui est surtout précieux pour ceux auxquels cet ouvrage est destiné, c'est une table méthodique des faits punis par la loi, des peines qui leur sont applicables et des lois qui les prononcent. Cette table et l'indication, au bas de chaque page, du texte de loi dont le résumé est donné dans le livre, rendront cet ouvrage indispensable à ceux qui, dans ce pays, veulent connaître cette loi criminelle anglaise qui s'écarte tant de la législation française, et qui est toujours l'objet de la curiosité en même temps que de l'admiration. D'ailleurs, en ce moment où l'on soulève tant de questions touchant la répression pénale, cette étude du droit criminel anglais est devenue indispensable. On ne pourra mieux la faire que dans le manuel de droit criminel dont nous parlons ici et que nous ne louons que comme il le mérite."—Revue Générale du Droit, 1878.

LEADING STATUTES SUMMARISED, FOR THE USE OF STUDENTS.

By ERNEST C. THOMAS,

Bacon Scholar of the Hon. Society of Gray's Inn, late Scholar of Trinity College, Oxford ;
Author of "Leading Cases in Constitutional Law Briefly Stated."

"Will doubtless prove of much use to students for whom it is intended. . . . Any student who, with this brief summary as a guide, carefully studies the enactments themselves in the Revised Edition of the Statutes, cannot fail to gain a very considerable acquaintance with every branch of English law."—Law Magazine.

"Mr. Thomas has done a useful piece of work in compiling a little book which is not intended to save students the trouble of looking at the statutes for themselves, but which will be valuable both to guide them through 'the single sentences of enormous length,' of which Sir James Stephen has spoken, and as a convenient book of reference."—Saturday Review.

"This is an ingenious work. The author, feeling that students, like a good many more experienced persons, are rather bothered with the gigantic bulk of our statute law, has hit upon the idea of picking out more than one hundred statutes of general practical importance, and giving a summary of them. He divides these into three classes, and places them under the titles, 'Common Law,' 'Criminal Law,' and 'Equity and Conveyancing.' There is an index to the volume, which enables the reader to find at once the Act he wants; and the summaries seem to be accurate and sufficiently full. Of course the book belongs to the list of 'cram' instructors; but it has merits beyond those of mere help to examination."—Law Journal.

SOURCES OF LAW, MARRIAGE, ADOPTION, PARTITION, AND SUCCESSION.

By WILLIAM M. P. COGHLAN,

BOMBAY CIVIL SERVICE, JUDGE AND SESSIONS JUDGE OF TANNA.

"Apart, altogether, from their professional value, these introductory chapters are interesting to the layman, as presenting a series of curiously exact photographs of every day Hindu life, which are further illustrated by the rulings of the various High Courts. We have only space to direct the readers' attention to the chapters on marriage, and the cases cited, for we made use of this text-book among others in discussing the Hindu marriage laws in our columns last year. Mr. Coghlan is well known as the Judge and Session Judge of Tanna, and as one of the closest students of Hindu life as well as of Hindu law. His volume is already a text-book to the students of Hindu law in England, and should also find a welcome here from practitioners, and even, through the intrinsic interest of the subject and the ability of treatment, from those general readers who may be interested in Indian matters."—Times of India.

"Mr. Coghlan, Judge and Sessions Judge of Tanna, has prepared an epitome of some Hindoo law cases as a guide to the law reports and to the standard text-books. Apart from its professional value, it presents a curious picture of Hindoo customs and ideas on various subjects, such as marriage, family ties, &c. &c."—Saturday Review.

A TREATISE ON THE STATUTES OF ELIZABETH AGAINST FRAUDULENT CONVEYANCES.

The Bills of Sale Registration Acts, and the Law of Voluntary Dispositions of Property generally.

BY H. W. MAY, B.A. (Ch. Ch. Oxford), and of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law.

"This treatise has not been published before it was wanted. The statutes of Elizabeth against fraudulent conveyances have now been in force for more than three hundred years. The decisions under them are legion in number, and not at all times consistent with each other. An attempt to reduce the mass of decisions into something like shape, and the exposition of legal principles involved in the decisions, under any circumstances, must have been a work of great labour, and we are pleased to observe that in the book before us there has been a combination of unusual labour with considerable professional skill. . . . We cannot conclude our notice of this work without saying that it reflects great credit on the publishers as well as the author. The facilities afforded by Messrs. Stevens and Haynes for the publication of treatises by rising men in our profession are deserving of all praise. We feel assured that they do not lightly lend their aid to works presented for publication, and that in consequence publication by such a firm is to some extent a guarantee of the value of the work published."—Canada Law Journal.

"Examining Mr. May's book, we find it constructed with an intelligence and precision which render it entirely worthy of being accepted as a guide in this confessedly difficult subject. The subject is an involved one, but with clean and clear handling it is here presented as clearly as it could be. . . . On the whole, he has produced a very useful book of an exceptionally scientific character."—Solicitors' Journal.

"The subject and the work are both very good. The former is well chosen, new, and interesting: the latter has the quality which always distinguishes original research from borrowed labours."—American Law Review.

"We are happy to welcome his (Mr. May's) work as an addition to the, we regret to say, brief catalogue of law books conscientiously executed. We can corroborate his own description of his labours, 'that no pains have been spared to make the book as concise and practical as possible, without doing so at the expense of perspicuity, or by the omission of any important point.' ## AN ESSAY

THE RIGHTS OF THE CROWN AND THE PRIVILEGES OF THE SUBJECT

In the Sea Shores of the Realm.

By ROBERT GREEN HALL, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law. Second Edition. Revised and corrected, together with extensive Annotations, and references to the later Authorities in England, Scotland, Ireland, and the United States. By RICHARD LOVELAND LOVELAND, of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"This is an interesting and valuable book. It treats of one of those obscure branches of the law which there is no great inducement for a legal writer to take up. . . . Mr. Hall, whose first edition was issued in 1830, was a writer of considerable power and method. Mr. Loveland's editing reflects the valuable qualities of the 'Essay' itself. He has done his work without pretension, but in a solid and efficient manner. The 'Summary of Contents' gives an admirable epitome of the chief points discussed in the 'Essay,' and indeed, in some twenty propositions, supplies a useful outline of the whole law. Recent cases are noted at the foot of each page with great care and accuracy, while an Appendix contains much valuable matter; including Lord Hale's treatise De Jure Maris, about which there has been so much controversy, and Serjeant Merewether's learned argument on the rights in the river Thames. The book will, we think, take its place as the modern authority on the subject."—Law Journal.

"The treatise, as originally published, was one of considerable value, and has ever since been quoted as a standard authority. But as time passed, and cases accumulated, its value diminished, as it was necessary to supplement it so largely by reference to cases since decided. A tempting opportunity was, therefore, offered to an intelligent editor to supply this defect in the work, and Mr. Loveland has seized it, and proved his capacity in a very marked manner. As very good specimens of annotation, showing clear judgment in selection, we may refer to the subject of alluvion at page 109, and the rights of fishery at page 50. At the latter place he begins his notes by stating under what expressions a 'several fishery' has been held to pass, proceeding subsequently to the evidence which is sufficient to support a claim to ownership of a fishery. The important question under what circumstances property can be acquired in the soil between high and low water mark is lucidly discussed at page 77, whilst at page 81 we find a pregnant note on the property of a grantee of wreck in goods stranded within his liberty."

"We think we can promise Mr. Loveland the reward for which alone he says he looks—that this edition of Hall's Essay will prove a most decided assistance to those engaged in cases relating to the foreshores of the country."—Law Times.

"The entire book is masterly."—ALBANY LAW JOURNAL.

Together with a Brief Summary of the Various Sources of Rivers Pollution.

By CLEMENT HIGGINS, M.A., F.C.S.,
OF THE INNER TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

"As a compendium of the law upon a special and rather intricate subject, this treatise cannot but prove of great practical value, and more especially to those who have to advise upon the institution of proceedings under the Rivers Pollution Preventive Act, 1876, or to adjudicate upon those proceedings when brought."—Irish Law Times.

"We can recommend Mr. Higgins' Manual as the best guide we possess."—Public Health.

"County Court Judges, Sanitary Authorities, and Riparian Owners will find in Mr. Higgins' Treatise a valuable aid in obtaining a clear notion of the Law on the subject. Mr. Higgins has accomplished a work for which he will readily be recognised as having special fitness, on account of his practical acquaintance both with the scientific and the legal aspects of his subject."—Law Magazine and Review.

"The volume is very carefully arranged throughout, and will prove of great utility both to miners and to owners of land on the banks of rivers."—The Mining Journal.

"Mr. Higgins writes tersely and clearly, while his facts are so well arranged that it is a pleasure to refer to his book for information; and altogether the work is one which will be found very useful by all interested in the subject to which it relates."—Engineer.

MAYNE'S TREATISE

ON

THE LAW OF DAMAGES.

Third Edition.

BY

JOHN D. MAYNE,

Of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law;

AND

LUMLEY SMITH,

Of the Inner Temple, Q.C.

"During the twenty-two years which have elapsed since the publication of this well-known work, its reputation has been steadily growing, and it has long since become the recognised authority on the important subject of which it treats."—LAW MAGAZINE AND REVIEW.

"This edition of what has become a standard work has the advantage of appearing under the supervision of the original author as well as of Mr. Lumley Smith, the editor of the second edition. The result is most satisfactory. Mr. Lumley Smith's edition was ably and conscientiously prepared, and we are glad to find that the reader still enjoys the benefit of his accuracy and learning. At the same time the book has, doubtless, been improved by the reappearance of its author as co-editor. The earlier part, indeed, has been to a considerable extent entirely rewritten.

"Upon the general principles, according to which damages are to be assessed in actions of contract, Hadley v. Baxendale (9 Ex. 341) still remains the leading authority, and furnishes the text for the discussion contained in the second chapter of Mr. Mayne's book. Properly understood and limited, the rule proposed in that case, although in one respect not very happily worded, is a sound one, and has been repeatedly approved both in England and America. The subsequent decisions, which are concisely summarized by Mr. Mayne, have established that mere knowledge of special circumstances is not enough, unless it can be inferred from the whole transaction that the contractor consented to become liable to the extra damage. This limitation is obviously just, especially in the case of persons, such as common carriers, who have no option to refuse the contract. Mere knowledge on their part of special circumstances ought not, and, according to the dicta of the judges in the Exchequer Chamber in Horne v. Midland Railway Company (21 W. R. 481, L. R. 8 C. P. 131), would not involve the carrier in additional responsibility. Mr. Mayne's criticism of the numerous cases in which this matter has been considered leaves nothing to be desired, and the rules he deduces therefrom (pp. 32, 33) appear to us to exhaust the subject.

"This text-book is so well known, not only as the highest authority on the subject treated of, but as one of the best text-books ever written, that it would be idle for us to speak of it in the words of commendation that it deserves. It is a work that no practising lawyer can do without."—CANADA LAW JOURNAL.

"Mr. Mayne's remarks on damages in actions of tort are brief. We agree with him that in such actions the courts are governed by far looser principles than in contracts; indeed, sometimes it is impossible to say they are governed by any principles at all. In actions for injuries to the person or reputation, for example, a judge cannot do more than give a general direction to the jury to give what the facts proved in their judgment required. And, according to the better opinion, they may give damages 'for example's sake' and mulct a rich man more heavily than a poor one. In actions for injuries to property, however, ' vindictive' or 'exemplary' damages cannot, except in very rare cases, be awarded, but must be limited, as in contract, to the actual harm sustained.

"The subject of remoteness of damage is treated at considerable length by Mr. Mayne, and we notice that much new matter has been added. Thus the recent case of Riding v. Smith (24 W. R. 487, 1 Ex. D. 91) furnishes the author with an opportunity of discussing the well-known rule in Ward v. Weeks (7 Bing. 217) that injury resulting from the repetition of a slander is not actionable. The rule has always seemed to us a strange one, if a man is to be made responsible for the natural consequences of his acts. For every one who utters a slander may be perfectly certain that it will be repeated.

"It is needless to comment upon the arrangement of the subjects in this edition, in which no alteration has been made. The editors modestly express a hope that all the English as well as the principal Irish decisions up to the date have been included, and we believe from our own examination that the hope is well founded. We may regret that, warned by the growing bulk of the book, the editors have not included any fresh American cases, but we feel that the omission was unavoidable. We should add that the whole work has been thoroughly revised."—Solicitors' Journal.

"It will probably be a very long time before the prosecution of the Overend and Gurney directors is forgotten. It remains as an example, and a legal precedent of considerable value. It involved the immensely important question where innocent misrepresentation ends, and where fraudulent misrepresentation begins.

"All who perused the report of this case in the columns of the Times, must have observed the remarkable fulness and accuracy with which that duty was discharged, and nothing could be more natural than that the reporter should publish a separate report in book form. This has been done, and Mr. Finlason introduces the report by one hundred pages of dissertation on the general law. To this we shall proceed to refer, simply remarking before doing so, that the charge to the jury has been carefully revised by the Lord Chief Justice."—Law Times.

"Mr. Hardcastle gives us an original treatise with foot notes, and he has evidently taken very considerable pains to make his work a reliable guide. Beginning with the effect of the Election Petitions Act, 1868, he takes his readers step by step through the new procedure. His mode of treating the subject of 'particulars' will be found extremely useful, and he gives all the law and practice in a very small compass. In an Appendix is supplied the Act and the Rules. We can thoroughly recommend Mr. Hardcastle's book as a concise manual on the law and practice of election petitions."—Law Times.

REVISED AND EDITED BY

RICHARD LOVELAND LOVELAND,

Of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law; Editor of "Kelyng's Crown Cases," and "Hall's Essay on the Rights of the Crown in the Seashore."

"Messrs. STEVENS & HAYNES, the successful publishers of the Reprints of Bellewe, Cooke, Cunningham, Brookes' New Cases, Choyce Cases in Chancery, William Kelynge and Kelyng's Crown Cases, determined to issue a new or fourth Edition of Shower's Cases in Parliament.

"The volume, although beautifully printed on old-fashioned paper, in old-fashioned type, instead of being in the quarto, is in the more convenient octavo form, and contains several additional cases not to be found in any of the previous editions of the work.

"These are all cases of importance, worthy of being ushered into the light of the world by enterprising publishers.

"Shower's Cases are models for reporters, even in our day. The statements of the case, the arguments of counsel, and the opinions of the Judges, are all clearly and ably given.

"This new edition with an old face of these valuable reports, under the able editorship of R. L. Loveland, Esq., should, in the language of the advertisement, 'be welcomed by the profession, as well as enable the custodians of public libraries to complete or add to their series of English Law Reports'."—Canada Law Journal.

Edition.

"No public library in the world, where English law finds a place, should be without a copy of this edition of Bellewe."—Canada Law Journal.

"We have here a fac-simile edition of Bellewe, and it is really the most beautiful and admirable reprint that has appeared at any time. It is a perfect gem of antique printing, and forms a most interesting monument of our early legal history. It belongs to the same class of works as the Year Book of Edward I. and other similar works which have been printed in our own time under the auspices of the Master of the Rolls; but is far superior to any of them, and is in this respect highly creditable to the spirit and enterprise of private publishers. The work is an important link in our legal history; there are no year books of the reign of Richard II., and Bellewe supplied the only substitute by carefully extracting and collecting all the cases he could find, and he did it in the most convenient form—that of alphabetical arrangement in the order of subjects, so that the work is a digest as well as a book of law reports. It is in fact a collection of cases of the reign of Richard II., arranged according to their subjects in alphabetical order. It is, therefore, one of the most intelligible and interesting legal memorials of the Middle Ages."—Law Times.

"The instructive chapter which precedes the cases, entitled 'A proposal for rendering the Laws of England clear and certain,' gives the volume a degree of peculiar interest, independent of the value of many of the reported cases. That chapter begins with words which ought, for the information of every people, to be printed in letters of gold. They are as follows: 'Nothing conduces more to the peace and prosperity of every nation than good laws and the due execution of them.' The history of the civil law is then rapidly traced. Next a history is given of English Reporters, beginning with the reporters of the Year Books from 1 Edw. III. to 12 Hen. VIII.—being near 200 years—and afterwards to the time of the author."—Canada Law Journal.

The whole carefully revised and edited by RICHARD LOVELAND LOVELAND, of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"We look upon this volume as one of the most important and valuable of the unique reprints of Messrs. Stevens and Haynes. Little do we know of the mines of legal wealth that lie buried in the old law books. But a careful examination, either of the reports or of the treatise embodied in the volume now before us, will give the reader some idea of the good service rendered by Messrs. Stevens & Haynes to the profession. . . . Should occasion arise, the Crown prosecutor as well as counsel for the prisoner will find in this volume a complete vade mecum of the law of high treason and proceedings in relation thereto."—Canada Law Journal.

A CONCISE TREATISE ON Private International Jurisprudence, BASED ON THE DECISIONS IN THE ENGLISH COURTS.

BY JOHN ALDERSON FOOTE,

Of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law ; Chancellor's Legal Medallist and Senior Whewell Scholar of International Law Cambridge University, 1873 ; Senior Student in Jurisprudence and Roman Law, Inns of Court Examination Hilary Term, 1874.

"This work seems to us likely to prove of considerable use to all English lawyers who have to deal with questions of private international law. Since the publication of Mr. Westlake's valuable treatise, twenty years ago, the judicial decisions of English courts bearing upon different parts of this subject have greatly increased in number, and it is full time that these decisions should be examined, and that the conclusions to be deduced from them should be systematically set forth in a treatise. Moreover, Mr. Foote has done this well."—Solicitors' Journal.

"Mr. Foote has done his work very well, and the book will be useful to all who have to deal with the class of cases in which English law alone is not sufficient to settle the question."—Saturday Review, March 8, 1879.

"The author's object has been to reduce into order the mass of materials already accumulated in the shape of explanation and actual decision on the interesting matter of which he treats ; and to construct a framework of private international law, not from the dicta of jurists so much as from judicial decisions in English Courts which have superseded them. And it is here, in compiling and arranging in a concise form this valuable material, that Mr. Foote's wide range of knowledge and legal acumen bear such good fruit. As a guide and assistant to the student of international law, the whole treatise will be invaluable ; while a table of cases and a general index will enable him to find what he wants without trouble."—Standard.

"The recent decisions on points of international law (and there have been a large number since Westlake's publication) have been well stated. So far as we have observed, no case of any importance has been omitted, and the leading cases have been fully analyzed. The author does not hesitate to criticise the grounds of a decision when these appear to him to conflict with the proper rule of law. Most of his criticisms seem to us very just. . . . On the whole we can recommend Mr. Foote's treatise as a useful addition to our text-books, and we expect it will rapidly find its way into the hands of practising lawyers."—The Journal of Jurisprudence and Scottish Law Magazine.

"Mr. Foote has evidently borne closely in mind the needs of Students of Jurisprudence as well as those of the Practitioners. For both, the fact that his work is almost entirely one of Case-law, will commend it as one useful alike in Chambers and in Court"—Law Magazine and Review.

"Mr. Foote's book will be useful to the student. . . . One of the best points of Mr. Foote's book is the 'Continuous Summary,' which occupies about thirty pages, and is divided into four parts—Persons, Property, Acts, and Procedure. Mr. Foote remarks that these summaries are not in any way intended as an attempt at codification. However that may be, they are a digest which reflects high credit on the author's assiduity and capacity. They are 'meant merely to guide the student ;' but they will do much more than guide him. They will enable him to get such a grasp of the subject as will render the reading of the text easy and fruitful."—Law Journal.

"This book is well adapted to be used both as a text-book for students and a book of reference for practising barristers."—Bar Examination Journal.

"This is a book which supplies the want which has long been felt for a really good modern treatise on Private International Law adapted to the every-day requirements of the English Practitioner. The whole volume, although designed for the use of the practitioner, is so moderate in size—an octavo of 500 pages only—and the arrangement and development of the subject so well conceived and executed, that it will amply repay perusal by those whose immediate object may be not the actual decisions of a knotty point but the satisfactory disposal of an examination paper."—Oxford and Cambridge Undergraduates' Journal.

"Since the publication, some twenty years ago, of Mr. Westlake's Treatise, Mr. Foote's book is, in our opinion, the best work on private international law which has appeared in the English language. . . . The work is executed with much ability, and will doubtless be found of great value by all persons who have to consider questions on private international law."—Athenaeum.

A SUMMARY OF JOINT STOCK COMPANIES' LAW.

By T. EUSTACE SMITH,
Student of the Inner Temple.

"The author of this handbook tells us that, when an articled student reading for the final examination, he felt the want of such a work as that before us, wherein could be found the main principles of law relating to joint-stock companies. . . . Law students may well read it; for Mr. Smith has very wisely been at the pains of giving his authority for all his statements of the law or of practice, as applied to joint-stock company business usually transacted in solicitors' chambers. In fact, Mr. Smith has by his little book offered a fresh inducement to students to make themselves—at all events, to some extent—acquainted with company law as a separate branch of study."—Law Times.

"These pages give, in the words of the preface, 'as briefly and concisely as possible, a general view both of the principles and practice of the law affecting companies.' The work is excellently printed, and authorities are cited; but in no case is the very language of the statutes copied. The plan is good, and shows both grasp and neatness; and, both amongst students and laymen, Mr. Smith's book ought to meet a ready sale."—Law Journal.

"The book is one from which we have derived a large amount of valuable information, and we can heartily and conscientiously recommend it to our readers."—Oxford and Cambridge Undergraduates' Journal.

THE LAW OF NEGLIGENCE, SECOND EDITION.

By ROBERT CAMPBELL, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law, and Advocate of the Scotch Bar.

"A new edition has appeared of Mr. Campbell's excellent work on 'The Law of Negligence,' in which no pains have been spared in collecting cases, and the style of which is clear and easy."—Saturday Review, March 8, 1879.

"No less an authority than the late Mr. Justice Willes, in his Judgment in Oppenheim v. White Lion Hotel Co., characterised Mr. Campbell's 'Law of Negligence' as a 'very good book'; and since very good books are by no means plentiful, when compared with the numbers of indifferent ones which annually issue from the press, we think the profession will be thankful to the author of this new edition brought down to date. It is indeed an able and scholarly treatise on a somewhat difficult branch of law, in the treatment of which the author's knowledge of Roman and Scotch Jurisprudence has stood him in good stead. We confidently recommend it alike to the student and the practitioner."—Law Magazine.

Author of "The Practice in Equity by way of Revivor and Supplement."*

REVIEWS OF THE FIRST EDITION.

"This is a work with an unpretending title, which in reality contains much more than would naturally be inferred from its title page. . . . The work before us contains, not only a copious and well-selected assortment of precedents, taken in every instance from orders actually made (and with proper references to the reports in all instances of reported cases), but also a series of notes, in which the result of the leading cases is succinctly given in a highly-convenient, though somewhat fragmentary, form; by the light of which the practitioner will, in all ordinary cases, be easily able to adapt the opposite precedent to the general circumstances of his own case. We consider the book one of great merit and utility, and we confidently recommend it to the consideration of the Profession."—Solicitors' Journal.

"This volume, Mr. Pemberton tells us, is the result of labour commenced so long ago as 1869. It has had the benefit, therefore, of patient care, and patience and care having been backed up by extensive knowledge and keen discrimination, a work has been produced which, whilst it is not likely to bring its author any high reward, must permanently record his name in legal literature, and prove to the Profession and the Bench a very decided acquisition."

"Mr. Pemberton has digested the cases without expressing any opinion as to their soundness or applicability—not giving head notes, as too many text writers are fond of doing, without taking the trouble to consider whether the reporter has correctly epitomised the case, but stating in a few words the effect of each decision. This makes the work a compendium of case law on the various subjects comprehended in it. How comprehensive it is we find it impossible accurately to represent to our readers without setting out the table of contents. We have looked through it more than once; we have carefully examined the citations, and we have formed the very highest opinion of the plan of the work and its execution, and we feel that Mr. Pemberton has placed the entire profession under a lasting obligation."—Law Times.

"The operation of the Judicature Acts, with the new rules and orders, not only made an opportunity for, but even necessitated, a new publication of forms of judgments and orders. We may safely say that Mr. Loftus Leigh Pemberton's work, in our opinion, should take its rank among the most valuable publications that have been issued of late."—Law Journal.

A CONCISE TREATISE ON THE STATUTE LAW OF THE LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS.

With an Appendix of Statutes, Copious References to English, Irish, and American Cases, and to the French Code, and a Copious Index.

By HENRY THOMAS BANNING, M.A.,
OF THE INNER TEMPLE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW.

"In this work Mr. Banning has grappled with one of the most perplexing branches of our statute law. The law, as laid down by the judicial decisions on the various Statutes of Limitations, is given in thirty-three short chapters under as many headings, and each chapter treats of a sub-division of one of the main branches of the subject; thus we have ten chapters devoted to real property. This arrangement entails a certain amount of repetition, but is not without its advantages, as the subject of each chapter is tolerably exhaustively treated of within the limits of a few pages. We think that in this respect the author has exercised a wise discretion. So far, as we have tested the cases cited, the effect of the numerous decisions appears to be accurately given—indeed, the author has, as we are informed in the preface, 'so far as is consistent with due brevity, employed the ipstissima verba of the tribunal'; and the cases are brought down to a very recent date. . . . The substance of the book is satisfactory; and we may commend it both to students and practitioners."—Solicitors' Journal.

"Mr. Banning's 'Concise Treatise' justifies its title. He brings into a convenient compass a general view of the law as to the limitation of actions as it exists under numerous statutes, and a digest of the principal reported cases relating to the subject which have arisen in the English and American courts."—Saturday Review.

"Mr. Banning has adhered to the plan of printing the Acts in an appendix, and making his book a running treatise on the case-law thereon. The cases have evidently been investigated with care and digested with clearness and intellectuality."—Law Journal.

THE TRADE MARKS REGISTRATION ACT, 1875,

And the Rules thereunder; THE MERCHANDISE MARKS ACT, 1862, with an Introduction containing a SUMMARY OF THE LAW OF TRADE MARKS, together with practical Notes and Instructions, and a copious INDEX. By EDWARD MORTON DANIEL, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister-at-Law.

"The last of the works on this subject, that by Mr. Daniel, appears to have been very carefully done. Mr. Daniel's book is a satisfactory and useful guide."—The Engineer.

"This treatise contains, within moderate compass, the whole of the law, as far as practically required, on the subject of trade marks. The publication is opportune, the subject being one which must nearly concern a considerable portion of the public, and it may be recommended to all who desire to take advantage of the protection afforded by registration under the new legislation. It is practical, and seems to be complete in every respect. The volume is well printed and neatly got up."—Law Times.

THE PARTITION ACTS, 1868 AND 1876.

A MANUAL OF THE

LAW OF PARTITION AND OF SALE IN LIEU OF PARTITION.

With the Decided Cases, and an Appendix containing Decrees and Orders.

By W. GREGORY WALKER,

OF LINCOLN'S INN, BARRISTER-AT-LAW, B.A. AND LATE SCHOLAR OF EXETER COLLEGE, OXFORD.

"This is a very painstaking and praiseworthy little treatise. That such a work has now been published needs, in fact, only to be announced; for, meeting as it does an undoubted requirement, it is sure to secure a place in the library of every equity practitioner. . . . We are gratified to be able to add our assurance that the practitioner will find that his confidence has not been misplaced, and that Mr. Walker's manual, compact and inexpensive as it is, is equally exhaustive and valuable."—Irish Law Times.

"This handy-book contains the above-mentioned Partition Acts, with a manual of the law of partition, and of sale in lieu of partition, and with the decided cases and an appendix containing decrees and orders. There are so many actions under the Partition Acts, that there is little doubt this small volume, containing as it does not merely references to all the reported cases, but the pith of the decisions extracted therefrom, will prove exceedingly useful. The appendix of decrees and orders, taken from the registrar's books kept in the Report Office, will be of great service to solicitors and counsel in settling minutes. Several of the judgments quoted will also help to keep those who have the conduct of partition suits in the right road."—Law Journal.

A TREATISE ON THE LAW AND PRACTICE RELATING TO INFANTS.

By ARCHIBALD H. SIMPSON, M.A.,

Of Lincoln's Inn, Esq., Barrister-at-Law, and Fellow of Christ's College, Cambridge.

"Mr. Simpson's book comprises the whole of the law relating to infants, both as regards their persons and their property, and we have not observed any very important omissions. The author has evidently expended much trouble and care, upon his work, and has brought together, in a concise and convenient form, the law upon the subject down to the present time."—Solicitors' Journal.

"Its law is unimpeachable. We have detected no errors, and whilst the work might have been done more scientifically, it is, beyond all question, a compendium of sound legal principles."—Law Times.

"Mr. Simpson has arranged the whole of the Law relating to Infants with much fulness of detail, and yet in comparatively little space. The result is due mainly to the businesslike condensation of his style. Fulness, however, has by no means been sacrificed to brevity, and, so far as we have been able to test it, the work omits no point of any importance, from the earliest cases to the last. In the essential qualities of clearness, completeness, and orderly arrangement it leaves nothing to be desired.

"Lawyers in doubt on any point of law or practice will find the information they require, if it can be found at all, in Mr. Simpson's book, and a writer of whom this can be said may congratulate himself on having achieved a considerable success."—Law Magazine, February, 1876.

"The reputation of 'Simpson on Infants' is now too perfectly established to need any encomiums on our part; and we can only say that, as the result of our own experience, we have invariably found this work an exhaustive and trustworthy repertory of information on every question connected with the law and practice relating to its subject."—Irish Law Times, July 7, 1877.

THE LAW CONCERNING THE REGISTRATION OF BIRTHS AND DEATHS IN ENGLAND AND WALES, AND AT SEA.

Being the whole Statute Law upon the subject; together with a list of Registration Fees and Charges. Edited with Copious Explanatory Notes and References, and an Elaborate Index. By ARTHUR JOHN FLAXMAN, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"Mr. Flaxman's unpretentious but admirable little book makes the duties of all parties under the Act abundantly clear. . . . Lawyers will find the book not only handy, but also instructive and suggestive. To registrars, and all persons engaged in the execution of the law, the book will be invaluable. The index occupies thirty-five pages, and is so full that information on a minute point can be obtained without trouble. It is an index that must have cost the author much thought and time. The statements of what is to be done, who may do it, and what must not be done, are so clear that it is well nigh impossible for any one who consults the book to err. Those who use 'Flaxman's Registration of Births and Deaths' will admit that our laudatory criticism is thoroughly merited."—Law Journal.

"Mr. Arthur John Flaxman, barrister-at-law, of the Middle Temple, has published a small work on 'The Law Concerning the Registration of Births and Deaths in England and Wales, and at Sea.' Mr. Flaxman has pursued the only possible plan, giving the statutes and references to cases. The remarkable feature is the index, which fills no less than 45 out of a total of 112 pages. The index alone would be extremely useful, and is worth the money asked for the work."—Law Times.

THE LAW OF EXTRADITION.

Second Edition, in 8vo., price 18s., cloth,

A TREATISE UPON

THE LAW OF EXTRADITION.

WITH THE

CONVENTIONS UPON THE SUBJECT EXISTING BETWEEN ENGLAND AND FOREIGN NATIONS,

AND

THE CASES DECIDED THEREON.

By EDWARD CLARKE,

OF LINCOLN'S INN, Q.C.

"Mr. Clarke's accurate and sensible book is the best authority to which the English reader can turn upon the subject of Extradition."—Saturday Review.

"The opinion we expressed of the merits of this work when it first appeared has been fully justified by the reputation it has gained. This new edition, embodying and explaining the recent legislation on extradition, is likely to sustain that reputation. . . . There are other points we had marked for comment, but we must content ourselves with heartily commending this new edition to the attention of the profession. It is seldom we come across a book possessing so much interest to the general reader and at the same time furnishing so useful a guide to the lawyer."—Solicitors' Journal.

"The appearance of a second edition of this treatise does not surprise us. It is a useful book, well arranged and well written. A student who wants to learn the principles and practice of the law of extradition will be greatly helped by Mr. Clarke. Lawyers who have extradition business will find this volume an excellent book of reference. Magistrates who have to administer the extradition law will be greatly assisted by a careful perusal of 'Clarke upon Extradition.' This may be called a warm commendation, but those who have read the book will not say it is unmerited. We have so often to expose the false pretenders to legal authorship that it is a pleasure to meet with a volume that is the useful and unpretending result of honest work. Besides the Appendix, which contains the extradition conventions of this country since 1843, we have eight chapters. The first is 'Upon the Duty of Extradition'; the second on the 'Early Treaties and Cases'; the others on the law in the United States, Canada, England, and France, and the practice in those countries."—Law Journal.

"One of the most interesting and valuable contributions to legal literature which it has been our province to notice for a long time, is 'Clarke's Treatise on the Law of Extradition.' . . . Mr. Clarke's work comprises chapters upon the Duty of Extradition; Early Treaties and Cases; History of the Law in the United States, in Canada, in England, in France, &c., with an Appendix containing the Conventions existing between England and Foreign Nations, and the Cases decided thereon. . . . The work is ably prepared throughout, and should form a part of the library of every lawyer interested in great Constitutional or International Questions."—Albany Law Journal.

THE TIMES of September 7, 1874, in a long article upon "Extradition Treaties," makes considerable use of this work, and writes of it as "Mr. Clarke's useful Work on Extradition."

THE PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE IN APPEALS
FROM INDIA TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

By E. B. MICHELL and R. B. MICHELL, Barristers-at-Law.

PRACTICE OF CONVEYANCING.

In 8vo., price 2s. 6d., cloth,

TABLES OF STAMP DUTIES FROM 1815 TO THE PRESENT TIME.

BY
WALTER ARTHUR COPINGER,

OF THE MIDDLE TEMPLE, ESQUIRE, BARRISTER-AT-LAW;

Author of "The Law of Copyright in Works of Literature and Art," "Index to Precedents in Conveyancing," "Title Deeds," &c.

"Conveyancers owe Mr. Copinger a debt of gratitude for his valuable Index to Precedents in Conveyancing; and we think the little book now before us will add to their obligations. Mr. Copinger gives, first of all, an abstract of the Stamp Act, 1815, with the special regulations affecting conveyances, mortgages, and settlements in full. He then presents in a tabular form the ad valorem stamp duties on conveyances, mortgages, and settlements, payable in England from the 1st of September, 1815, to the 10th of October, 1850, and then tables of ad valorem duties payable on the three classes of instruments since the last-mentioned date, and at the present time; arranged very clearly in columns. We cannot pretend to have checked the figures; but those we have looked at are correct; and we think this little book ought to find its way into a good many chambers and offices."—Solicitors' Journal.

"This book, or at least one containing the same amount of valuable and well-arranged information, should find a place in every Solicitor's office. It is of especial value when examining the abstract of a large number of old title deeds."—LAW TIMES.

"Mr. W. A. Copinger, so well known for his work on Title Deeds, was eminently calculated to assist the practitioner in unravelling the perplexities often surrounding the question of the due Stamping of Deeds, set out in Abstracts laid before Counsel.

His Tables of Stamp Duties, from 1815 to 1850, have already been tested in Chambers, and being now published, will materially lighten the labours of the profession in a tedious department, yet one requiring great care."—Law Magazine and Review.

In one volume, 8vo., price 14s., cloth,

Title Deeds:

THEIR CUSTODY, INSPECTION, AND PRODUCTION, At Law, in Equity and in Matters of Conveyancing,

Including Covenants for the Production of Deeds and Attested Copies; with an Appendix of Precedents, the Vendor and Purchaser Act, 1874, &c., &c., &c. By WALTER ARTHUR COPINGER, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law; Author of "The Law of Copyright" and "Index to Precedents in Conveyancing."

"In dealing with 'documentary evidence at law and in equity and in matters of conveyancing, including covenants for the production of deeds and attested copies,' Mr. Copinger has shown discrimination, for it is a branch of the general subject of evidence which is very susceptible of independent treatment. We are glad, therefore, to be able to approve both of the design and the manner in which it has been executed.

"The literary execution of the work is good enough to invite quotation, but the volume is not large, and we content ourselves with recommending it to the profession."—Law Times.

"A really good treatise on this subject must be essential to the lawyer; and this is what we have here. Mr. Copinger has supplied a much-felt want by the compilation of this volume. We have not space to go into the details of the book; it appears well arranged, clearly written, and fully elaborated. With these few remarks we recommend this volume to our readers."—Law Journal.

In 8vo., Second Edition, considerably enlarged, price 30s., cloth.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT,

In Works of Literature and Art; including that of the Drama, Music, Engraving, Sculpture, Painting, Photography, and Ornamental and Useful Designs; together with International and Foreign Copyright, with the Statutes relating thereto, and References to the English and American Decisions. By WALTER ARTHUR COPINGER, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law.

"A book that is certainly the most complete treatise upon the complex subject of copyright which has ever been published in England."—Athenaeum.
"A work much needed, and which he has done exceedingly well!"—American Law Review.

"The book is a thoroughly good one."—The Bookseller.

"We refer our readers to this capital book on Copyright."—The Publishers' Circular.

AND

TEMPLE C. MARTIN,

Chief Clerk of the Lambeth Police Court.

NOTICES OF THE FIRST EDITION.

"For the form of the work we have nothing but commendation. We may say we have here our ideal law book. It may be said to omit nothing which it ought to contain."—Law Times.

"This handsome volume aims at presenting a comprehensive magisterial handbook for the whole of England. The mode of arrangement seems to us excellent, and is well carried out."—Solicitors' Journal.

"As to the care with which the work has been executed, a somewhat minute examination of three or four of the divisions enables us to speak on the whole favourably."—Solicitors' Journal.

"Great pains have evidently been taken in every part of the work to ensure correctness; and this quality, together with that of its great comprehensiveness, can scarcely fail to render this guide to procedure before magisterial and police authorities eminently acceptable to the many classes of persons to whom full and accurate information on the subject it deals with is often of the utmost importance."—Morning Post.

"The Magisterial and Police Guide, by Mr. Henry Greenwood and Mr. Temple Martin, is a model work in its conciseness, and, so far as we have been able to test it, in completeness and accuracy. It ought to be in the hands of all who, as magistrates or otherwise, have authority in matters of police."—Daily News.

"Both to justices and practitioners desirous of obtaining a book of reference giving the present practice of the courts, this book will be found of great service—nay, almost invaluable."—Liverpool Mercury.

"Mr. Greenwood, stipendiary magistrate in the Staffordshire Potteries district, and Mr. Martin, of the Southwark Police Court, have produced a portly magisterial handbook applicable to the whole of England. It contains all the statute law relating to the procedure, jurisdiction, and duties of magistrates and police authorities, with notes and references to recent decisions, and appears to be put together, as might be expected from the professional experience of the authors, in a thorough and business-like manner."—Saturday Review.

"This work is eminently practical, and supplies a real want. It plainly and concisely states the law on all points upon which Magistrates are called upon to adjudicate, systematically arranged, so as to be easy of reference. It ought to find a place on every Justice's table, and we cannot but think that its usefulness will speedily ensure for it as large a sale as its merits deserve."—Midland Counties Herald.

"The exceedingly arduous task of collecting together all the enactments on the subject has been ably and efficiently performed, and the arrangement is so methodical and precise that one is able to lay a finger on a Section of an Act almost in a moment. It is wonderful what a mass of information is comprised in so comparatively small a space. We have much pleasure in recommending the volume not only to our professional but also to our general readers; nothing can be more useful to the public than an acquaintance with the outlines of magisterial jurisdiction and procedure."—Sheffield Post.

"Some recent cases in our law courts, which at the time attracted much public notice, have demonstrated the want of some clear and concise exposition of the powers and liabilities of promoters, and this task has been ably performed by Mr. Newman Watts."—Investor's Guardian.

"Mr. Watts has brought together all the leading decisions relating to promoters and directors, and has arranged the information in a very satisfactory manner, so as to readily show the rights of different parties and the steps which can be legally taken by promoters to further interests of new companies."—Daily Chronicle.

"Mr. Campbell, in producing a compendium of the Roman law, has gone to the best English works already existing on the subject, and has made excellent use of the materials found in them. The volume is especially intended for the use of students who have to pass an examination in Roman law, and its arrangement with a view to this end appears very good. The existence of text-books such as this should do much to prevent the evil system of cramming."—Saturday Review.
